The paper vs. eBook debate, which has been going on for several years, does not seem to serve any real purpose. Digital has become an integral part of life; so much so, that we fail to notice it. Hard copies, on the other hand, are still available, but for how long?

Ecotourism allows travelers to observe and experience life and culture in a natural and often undisturbed location that lends itself to activities like hiking, climbing, rafting etc. This type of tourism often provides funds for conservation and contributes to the development of the local economy. Would you be interested in this type of travel?

Cable television is gradually being replaced by the Internet. Recent research indicates that a substantial number of cable subscribers in their late twenties to mid-thirties are planning to discontinue their cable TV subscriptions. On-demand viewing appeals a lot more to people who want to watch a show of their choice at a time that suits them best. What is your view?

It is not unusual for working people to complain about having to follow the same routine day in and day out. Come retirement time, however, a great number of them feel lost and suffer physically and psychologically through the absence of the same routine. Why do you think this happens?

Climate change has been a critical issue in recent years due to its destructive consequences caused by natural disasters, such as storms, hurricanes, flooding and landslides. Deciding to "go green" has presented a dilemma for countries which have to choose between immediate economic growth and greener policies. This has delayed timely action and prevented the implementation of "green" measures that can contribute to the reduction of carbon emissions. What is your view?

books and research documents?

Librarian: What exactly are you looking for?

Hashim: It's about a science project and I need to gather information, in order to create a timeline for biological research over the last 60 years or so.

Librarian: I see. That must be interesting. It can't be easy to collect all the information and choose the key items you need but I'm sure you'll manage. Go to aisle 5 and look up the biology section. I'm sure you'll find what you need.

Hashim: I hope so. Thanks for your help.

Librarian: One more thing! The research documents are in the reference section. You have to sign and get a key. You can look up what you need and read documents in the reference section, but you mustn't take anything out.

Hashim: Can I photocopy any pages?

Librarian: You'll have to check with me first. You are not allowed to photocopy old manuscripts.

Hashim: I understand. Thanks again.

Ali: I've noticed you have to use a whole pile of books. Are you doing research?

Hashim: Yes, I'm trying to. But I'm not sure I can do it within the deadline. I'll need to spend days in the library, reading and making notes.

Don't you worry! Of course you'll make it. It seems impossible at first but you get used to it. Would Ali:

Hashim: That would be awesome but all the computers are taken.

Ali: No, not really. How about using this one? I'm just about to leave.

Hashim: Are you sure?

Ali: Absolutely. I'll let the librarian know on my way out. You'd better

I believe in living life to the fullest. My friends call me "adventure boy" because I'm very spontaneous and I love to do new things. There's almost nothing I won't try once. For example, I've gone bungee jumping and parachuting! I've eaten shark fin soup and chocolate covered crickets! I like to set challenges for myself, and I've found that I can do anything I set my mind to. I'm also a very straightforward person. I say what I mean and I mean what I say. If you ask my advice, you're going to get it!

OK. So the first thing you should know about me is that I'm obsessed with technology and media. I have to be "plugged in" all the time. I spend hours each day on the Web and playing computer games. I'm a lot like my dad. He's a software engineer and he loves technology and spending time on the computer, too. It drives my mom crazy.

But just because I love technology doesn't mean I'm a loner. I'm always hanging out with my friends. Sometimes I spend hours talking with friends online. I'm a pretty funny guy and I like cracking people up. My approach to life is laid back. I like helping others lighten up and not take life so seriously.

If I had to describe myself with one phrase it would be "down to earth." I also love being outdoors. Being in nature makes me feel peaceful and happy. I especially love the quiet of morning. One of my favorite things to do is wake up really early and go for a long hike.

I'm not always quiet, though. I have a few very close friends, and we spend hours talking and laughing. My family and friends mean everything to me, and they know that they can depend on me for anything. I'm a good listener. I'm not the type of person who tells people what they should do when they have a problem. Instead, I give lots of support and encouragement.

AMAZING INTERNET CONNECTIONS

We all use the Internet to connect with people.
Using email, social networking sites, and instant messaging are ordinary ways that people connect.
But at times, the Internet has been used to connect ordinary people in extraordinary ways.

12-year-old Sean Redden from Denton, Texas, was in on the Internet, playing a cyber fantasy world game. Suddenly someone came online, asking for help. The person said she was a Finnish business student who was locked in her college's computer lab. She said she was having an asthma attack and couldn't breathe.

Redden wasn't sure if this was part of the game as sometimes a few people lie on the Net. However, as he later told the Dallas Morning News, he decided it was, "too real to be a joke." So Redden called the police. With the additional help of international phone operators, Finnish paramedics found 20-year-old Tara Laintinen and gave her the medical attention she needed. Without the Internet and the efforts of a 12-year-old boy half a world away, she might not have

FINDING YOUR DOUBLE

It was just an ordinary night on a crowded subway car for Patrick Swales, a 21-year old web designer in New York City. The car had just stopped at a station and the doors opened. Suddenly, he saw himself waiting at the platform. But the clothes were not really his style. What was he doing waiting there? He should be in the car. But he was in the car! By the time he realized that he had just run into his double, the doors had shut and they were moving. At that instant, their eyes met. Disbelief, amusement, wonder were all conveyed in that one look! They both raised a hand in an attempt to catch each other but it was too late.

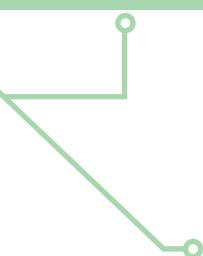

Shaken by the encounter and determined to find his double, Patrick came up with a unique idea. He created a website called subwaymydouble.com. He posted his own photo and a description of the man he had seen in the subway, in the hope that someone would see it and make contact. He got the call two days later.

Now Patrick and his double are best friends. His name is Manuel and he is in New York studying web design! Patrick and Manuel have decided to take themselves out of the public eye, so they have stopped updating the site. Patrick posted this message on the website: "In our best interest, there will be no more updates to this website. Unlike popular TV series, you will have to continue the story yourselves. Best wishes to all and may you find your double someday."

Asma, a 75-year-old grandmother of eight, enjoyed telling her grandchildren stories about her youth. These stories usually featured Sabah. Asma's best childhood friend. Asma and Sabah had been as close as sisters. Then, when the girls were 15, Sabah's family moved away and the girls lost contact. But Asma never forgot her childhood friend.

One day, Asma was telling her 13-year-old grandchild, Ali, a story about Sabah, when Ali asked, "Why don't you try to find her?" Ali got out his laptop and showed Asma how to surf the Web. A mere 30 minutes later, they had found Sabah! Asma's hands trembled as she dialed her old friend's phone number. When Sabah answered and Asma identified herself, Sabah burst into tears. By coincidence, Sabah was now living nearby.

Sixty years later, the women are inseparable once again. "My life has improved dramatically since Asma found me," says Sabah. "I never feel lonely anymore."

Adds Asma, "It's as if we had never been apart. Sixty years have made no difference to our friendship!"

These are just a few of the incredible ways people have been brought together by the Internet. Every day there are more. Who knows what amazing Internet stories are unfolding at this very moment.

Learning Face-to-Face and Online

There have been significant changes in education due to technology. The Internet has played a determining role in transforming the face of education as we used to know it. More and more universities and colleges offer face-to-face and Online course modes or blended versions that combine classroom face-to-face and email, social networking, or synchronous e-learning.

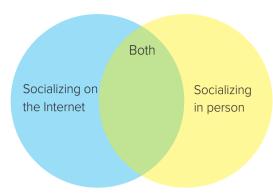

Research has shown that students choose different options, depending on individual preferences, learning styles, and practical considerations. For example, working adult students prefer online courses as they offer the flexibility that they need to combine learning with work. In other words, individuals, whose time and/or mobility are restricted, are happier with online courses.

On the other hand, a large number of students enroll in face-to-face courses as they feel that face-to-face instruction and communication with peers will help them understand concepts better and learn more effectively. They are not opposed to using email or social networks to communicate with peers but not with their instructor. On the contrary, online students find it easier to communicate with instructors by email as it frees them of inhibitions they might have about asking questions or raising issues face-toface.

Both groups defend their respective choice wholeheartedly. This is further demonstrated by success rates and learning outcomes. So, given a positive attitude to technology and the necessary skills, students will benefit from online courses as much as their counterparts in face-to-face contexts. What remains to be seen is if such courses will also benefit interpersonal skills and help people perform as members of a team.

GRAYSON, California, USA — An inmate who was just a day away from being released from jail fled the county prison on Thursday, according to the Grayson sheriff's department. When Bob Newton, 32, saw a gate that had been opened for a truck, he couldn't resist the opportunity to escape. Deputy Royjindar Singh saw Newton run through the gate and disappear into a cornfield. Newton is being pursued by a K-9 unit, a helicopter, police deputies, and the California Highway Patrol. Newton had been serving a five-day sentence for a misdemeanor reckless driving charge. When caught, Newton could now face up to a year in state prison.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia — Malaysian police reported on Tuesday that two armed robbers stole a car, then hijacked a security van with $13 million inside. However. the robbers encountered a problem when they tried to transfer the money to their getaway car. The car the robbers had stolen was a compact car. It was so small that it could not carry all of the cash, and the robbers were forced to abandon more than half of it!

Crime Doesn't Pay

Grammar 📜

The Passive

Use the passive to put the focus on an action, rather than who did the action. The passive is formed with be (any tense) + past participle.

The crime was committed early in the morning.

The murder weapon has been found.

The murderer will be brought to justice.

To include who did the action, use the preposition by.

The burglar was arrested by the police.

Note: Newspapers often use the passive to report crime stories.

Past Perfect and Past Perfect Progressive

We use the past perfect to talk about an activity or event that was completed before another activity or event in the past.

Reiko had forgotten to lock the door before she left the house.

The criminal had already escaped by the time the police arrived.

We use the past perfect progressive when the activity was in progress at the time another activity or event happened in the past.

Juan had been getting cash from the ATM when he was mugged.

The driver had been swerving between lanes when the police officer stopped him.

- A. Rewrite the active sentences as passive sentences.

Ali: Then what happens?

Albert: The pickpocket will often pretend to bump

Crime Puzzles

The Case of the Stolen Jewels

Detective Colmes was at the coffee shop around the corner when he learned that Jones's Jewelry had been broken into. He arrived at the scene of the burglary in moments.

Mr. Jones, the owner of the store, explained what had happened. "I arrived this morning to open up the store. As I walked up to my shop, I noticed a lot of broken glass on the pavement. I looked up and realized that the display window had been broken." Colmes looked out the broken window at the sidewalk, littered with glass. Mr. Jones continued, "Then I saw that all of the jewelry from the display window was gone. The doors were still locked, so this must be where the burglar broke in!"

"Why didn't the alarm go off?" asked Colmes. "It's a strange coincidence," said Mr. Jones. "I removed our old alarm system yesterday and made an appointment to have a new one installed today."

Colmes looked around at the empty jewelry cases. "I assume your jewelry was insured?"

"Of course!" said Mr. Jones. "Thank goodness for that!"

Colmes nodded and said, "Mr. Jones, I believe there was a crime indeed. And it was committed by you."

What crime does Colmes suspect Mr. Jones of committing? Why?

The Case of the Bowling Alley Murder

The Center Street Bowling Alley, the oldest bowling alley in the city, closed at midnight. At 4:00 A.M., the janitor found a terrible sight: a man with a knife in his back lying in one of the lanes. Detective Colmes quickly arrived at the scene with a swarm of police officers.

"Anybody know the victim?" asked Colmes. "I do," said one of the officers. "That's Bob Reynolds. He's running for councilman. He and Mike Jenner have been having a bitter campaign battle."

"Perhaps we should pay Mr. Jenner a visit," said Colmes. Before leaving the bowling alley, Colmes took his cell phone out of his pocket and left it behind.

On arriving at Mike Jenner's house, Colmes told Jenner, "I have some grim news. Bob Reynolds has been murdered."

"No! I can't believe it!" cried Jenner.

وزارة التعــلىم Ministry26Education

"We'd like to speak with you about the murder. But first, I need to get back to the police station to file the report. Can you meet me at the station?"

"Of course. I'll help in any way I can."

"I'll give you a call." Colmes patted his pocket. "Uh oh, I must've left my cell phone at the bowling alley. Would you mind picking it up and bringing it with you to the station?"

Jenner looked confused, but said, "Sure. I'll do anything to help with the investigation."

Later that day, Jenner brought Colmes's cell phone and charged with murder. Why?

Answer

The Case of the Stolen Jewels:

Detective Colmes suspects that Mr. Jones took the jewelry himself and pretended that there had been a burglary so he could collect insurance money. The broken window is Colmes's clue. If someone had broken into the shop, the broken glass should have been on the inside of the shop. Since it was outside the store, the window must have been broken from inside.

Answer

The Case of the Bowling Alley Murder:

Detective Colmes never told Mr. Jenner in which bowling alley the murder took place. Yet Mr. Jenner knew which bowling alley to go to for Colmes's phone. Mr. Jenner must have known where the murder took place because he was there!

The police searched the house later, looking for prints and other clues to help them identify the man. All of a sudden, one of the owners pointed to a cell phone plugged into one of the sockets, charging, and said that he had never seen it before and did not know who it belonged to. The police checked with the rest of the family and confirmed that it did not belong to any of them.

One of the police officers had an idea. He called a contact listed in the phone memory, and told the person that the owner of the phone had been in an accident, so the police were trying to get in touch with friends and family. The man was identified. He was later arrested and charged with a total of 12 burglaries!

Writing Corner

When you write an article, a story for a newspaper or magazine:

- open with an account of an event that has happened recently; if a reader is attracted by the first few lines, they are more likely to read the whole story.
- notice that articles which provide the account of an event do not usually present things in natural order (chronologically); Use a variety of verb tenses to jump back and forth in past time: What happened? What had happened?; What was going to happen (but probably didn't)?; What has happened?
- use time markers to help your reader follow the order of events in the narrative: Before...; Later that day ...; Soon after ...; When ...; While ...; and so on.
- bear in mind that such articles are usually quite 'dense', i.e. they contain a lot of information in little space

Listen and Discuss

In pairs, tell each other five things you expect a hotel to have. Then read about these four unusual hotels. Share with each other how each hotel is different from what you expected.

Jules' Undersea Lodge Florida, USA

Undoubtedly, most people have never been to a hotel like Jules' Undersea Lodge before. This extremely unusual hotel, located in Key Largo, Florida, is on the ocean floor! Guests scuba dive to the hotel's one unit, which is over 19 feet (six meters) below the surface. The unit includes two bedrooms, a television, and 50-inch (127-centimeter) circular windows that offer views of passing sea life.

Capsule hotels Throughout Japan

In recent years, capsule hotels have gained widespread popularity in Japan. Capsule hotels are hotels in which guests stay in a small sleeping space that is just big enough for a bed. There is so little room that some people can scarcely sit up in these capsules. However, in expensive cities, capsule hotels offer a relatively inexpensive alternative to more traditional hotels.

Ariau Amazon Towers Hotel Manaus, Brazil

Ariau Amazon Towers Hotel in Manaus, Brazil, is the world's largest commercial tree house. Amazingly, Ariau's towers are built at the level of the rain forest treetops, about 72 feet (22 meters) in the air. The towers are linked together by four miles (six kilometers) of wooden catwalks. This very unusual setting gives guests the unique opportunity to experience the plant and animal life of the rain forest canopy while leaving the rain forest's ecosystem undisturbed.

The Kakslauttanen Hotel

Lapland, Finland

In the heart of Finnish Lapland, 155 miles (250 kilometers) north of the Arctic Circle, lies a truly magical place. The Kakslauttanen Hotel offers quests the opportunity to stay overnight in either a snow or glass igloo. Those who choose the glass igloos can enjoy the night skies and the stunning Northern Lights from the comfort of their own bed. Luckily, the hotel provides cozy, extra-warm sleeping bags for the guests who choose to sleep in snow igloos!

Grammar 📜

Adverbs of Degree

Adverbs of degree tell us about the intensity of a verb, adjective, or other adverbs. Some common adverbs of degree are:

absolutely	completely	hardly	quite	SO almost	enough	just	rather	too barely	extremely	nearly	scarcely	very

Adverbs of degree usually go before the main verb they modify.

I've almost finished packing. I nearly missed my flight.

Adverbs of degree usually go before the adjective or adverb they modify.

The travel agent was extremely helpful. He read the map very carefully.

When enough is used as an adverb of degree, it is placed after adjectives and adverbs.

Is your coffee hot enough? You are not speaking loudly enough.

Sentence Adverbs

Sentence adverbs modify an entire sentence, or a whole clause within a sentence. They indicate the attitude of the speaker. Some common sentence adverbs are:

actually	certainly	frankly*	obviously	probably admittedly*	clearly	honestly*	officially*	undoubtedly apparently	evidently	naturally*	presumably	(un)fortunately*

(*) Some sentence adverbs usually go at the beginning of a sentence.

Frankly, I'm disappointed in the quality of this hotel.

Other sentence adverbs can go after the verb be, before simple tenses of other verbs, or after the auxiliary in a compound verb.

You are obviously having a good time.

He certainly spent a lot of money on this trip.

The flight has undoubtedly left by now.

- A. Rewrite each sentence to include the adverb of degree.
- P We have recovered from our trip. (almost) We have almost recovered from our trip.
 - 1. We ate anything on the airplane. (hardly)
 - 2. The food was bland for me. (too)
 - 3. The flight attendant dropped my meal on me. (nearly)
 - 4. Sleeping on the train was uncomfortable. (rather)
- 5. We were exhausted by the end of our trip. (absolutely)
 - 6. The airplane seat wasn't big for me. (enough)

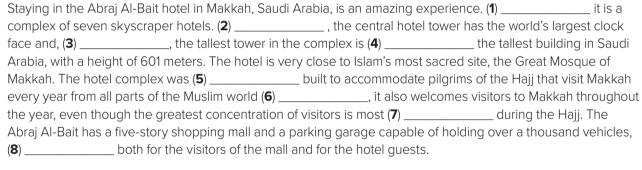

- C. Read the following facts about another unusual hotel in another country. Then write a paragraph about it, using adverbs of degree and sentence adverbs.
 - The hotel is located on the Torne River, 124 miles (200 kilometers) north of the Arctic Circle.
 - The hotel is the biggest igloo in the world.
 - It melts into the river every spring and is recreated every winter.
 - The temperature inside the hotel is 23° Fahrenheit (-5° Celsius).

8 Reading

Before Reading

- 1. Eco means "related to the earth or environment." What do you think ecotourism means?
- 2. Read the passage and underline all the words and phrases that can help you understand what ecotourism means.

Ecotourism: See the World While Saving It

Imagine vacationing in a place of stunning, natural beauty. Picture yourself relaxing on a pristine beach in Belize, exploring the desert on a camel in Riyadh, or following lions and zebras in Kenya. Now imagine that while enjoying these experiences, you are also helping to preserve the environment, protect wildlife, and support local communities. Sound too good to be true? It isn't! Such vacations are part of the fastest-growing trend in the travel industry. The trend is called ecotourism.

While ecotourism was almost unheard of before the 1990s, it has quickly become a multi-billion dollar industry. But what exactly is ecotourism? These are some of its characteristics:

- It involves travel to natural, often remote, destinations. These are often protected areas where development is limited.
- Ecotourism destinations focus on recycling, water conservation, and using renewable energy sources.
- It builds environmental awareness. As visitors explore an area, they also learn about it.
- It provides an economic incentive to preserve the environment and raises money to help protect it.
- It creates financial opportunities and jobs for the local population.

Costa Rica was one of the first ecotourism success stories. At one time, Costa Rica had the highest rate of deforestation in all of Latin America. However, since ecotourism, there has been a dramatic reduction in deforestation. Now, more than a quarter of Costa Rica's land is protected from development. Costa Rica is now the world's top ecotourism destination. Amazingly, this small country of five million people has about three million visitors per year.

Stacy Davison is one of the three million tourists who chose to visit Costa Rica this year. "We wanted to explore a country that was largely unspoiled by development. And, boy, did we get what we were looking for. We saw beautiful beaches, lush rainforest, and exotic wildlife." Stacy is especially enthusiastic about a wildlife refuge she and her husband visited during their trip. "Getting there took four hours by bus along an unpaved road. But it was so beautiful that it was worth it. We hiked the trails and took a tour through the rain forest canopy. Our guide showed us how to poke a stick into a termite nest to get a snack (They have a nutty flavor!), and how to use live leaf-cutter ants to create stitches for a cut. It was quite an amazing experience!"

Stacy also enjoyed knowing that the money she was spending on her vacation was being used in environmentally responsible ways. She stayed in locally-owned, environmentally-friendly hotels that grow their own fruits and vegetables, and use renewable sources of energy such as wind and solar power.

Undoubtedly, ecotourism plays a critical role in preserving the land in Costa Rica as well as in other ecotourism

KINGDOM OF SAUDI ARABIA

- A. 1. Think about the most important places in Saudi Arabia. Why are these places or sites significant? Why should a tourist visit them?
 - What does Saudi Arabia have to offer visitors that is unique or special?
 - · How does the country welcome and look after its visitors?
 - 2. Read the following extract from the Vision 2030 Program and find out the following:
 - a. What are the unique and special things that Saudi Arabia has to offer visitors? Compare these to your ideas in part 1.
 - b. What plans does the government of the country have to further improve and develop tourism and travel to Saudi Arabia?

Saudi Arabia's Vision 2030

Saudi Arabia is blessed with many rich assets. Our geographic, cultural, social, demographic and economic advantages have enabled us to take a leading position in the world.

To build the best future for our country, we have based our vision for Saudi Arabia on three pillars that represent our unique competitive advantages. Our status will enable us to build on our leading role as the heart of Arab and Islamic worlds.

At the same time, we will use our investment power to create a more diverse and sustainable economy. Finally, we will use our strategic location to build our role as an integral driver of international trade and to connect three continents: Africa, Asia and Europe.

Using our unique location, our vibrant economy and our status as the heart of the Arab and Islamic worlds, we will increase travel to our country and welcome guests. We recognize that Allah the Almighty has given to our country, a gift more precious than oil. Saudi Arabia is the Land of the Two Holy Mosques, the most sacred sites on earth and the direction of the Kaaba (Qibla) to which more than a billion Muslims turn at prayer. We will expand and further develop our country to ensure that Muslims from around the world can visit the Holy Sites.

The Hajj and Umrah Vision Realization Program will allow the highest possible number of Muslims to perform Hajj and Umrah to the fullest. We will develop facilities and transport around the Two Holy Mosques – providing pilgrims with the best possible services before, during and after their visits to Makkah and reflecting the bright and civilized image of the country in the service of the Two Holy Mosques. This unique status of our country is clearly manifested in our responsibility in providing generous services and care for visitors to these two holy sites.

Furthermore, we will provide wider tourism, as well as cultural and historical programs, for those who come to perform Umrah. To achieve this, we will continue working on the development of our infrastructure and support the private sector to provide high quality Umrah services.

The program will support the revival, preservation, promotion and classification of Islamic, Arab and National heritage through supporting museums and historical sites by facilitating access and funding preservation and funding events that showcase local traditions.

Cultural tourism destinations including the world's largest 'open air museum' (at Al-Ula) are planned along with the re-establishment of art and crafts centers.

Through our vibrant economy, we will develop the tourism infrastructure to create new holiday resorts and extend the road infrastructure, so visitors can experience the natural beauty of the country. Environmental parks will be rehabilitated and developed for ecological tourism. We will also further develop the digital systems to attract conference tourism to our country.

2 Reading 💷

Before Reading

Read the passage and underline details that tell you how a computer virus and a biological virus are similar.

Computer Viruses: A Headache for Humans

A computer virus is a computer program that has the ability to infect a computer without the user's permission, or even knowledge. There are more than a few similarities between computer viruses and human viruses.

Biological viruses enter the body through some kind of direct contact with the body and attach themselves to a host cell. The virus spreads, and the resulting damage can include pain, suffering, or even death. Similarly, computer viruses enter a host file in your computer when you open an infected email attachment. This virus then spreads, resulting in damage that can include deletion of files, emailing of all the addresses in the computer's email address book, a slowing down of the system, or even fatal damage to the hard drive.

If these viruses are so damaging, why do people allow them to infiltrate their computers? Because people are tricked into it. Viruses are sent attached to email messages. These emails use a variety of tricks to fool the reader into opening up the attachment. For example, some of these emails are designed to appeal to people's emotions. The "YOU HAVE WON" virus included an attachment titled "A-Gift-For-You text.vbs." Users, thinking they had been sent a gift letter, opened the file, instantly releasing a virus and infecting their computer. Another common virus disguised as a personal message is "Koob." "Koob" is spread through messages sent through social networking sites. The emails have subject lines like, "You look funny on our new video." When users try to download the "video," what they really get is a virus.

Another common way email users are manipulated into opening attachments that contain viruses is with messages that appear to come from businesses that people frequently use. These typically include auction sites, delivery services, and financial institutions. One such virus is the "UPS/FedEx Delivery Failure." This email comes with a message informing the user that a package he or she had supposedly sent could not be delivered. Users are told to click on the attachment for a refund. In reality, of course, the attachment unleashes a virus.

Ironically, one virus-spreading email was disguised to look like an email about protecting the user's computer from viruses! The "Microsoft Patch" virus was spread through an email that urged the user to download a software patch to prevent viruses. This email even included the Microsoft™ icon, which fooled many into believing the email was legitimate. In reality, the "patch" was a virus. This virus was forwarded by millions of people, resulting in the infection of computers around the world.

وزارة التعــلىم Ministry 6 Education

Do all you can to avoid exposing your computer to a virus. Think of the precautions you take against catching biological infections. You wash your hands and avoid contact with sick people. Extend the same care to your computer. Consider investing in antivirus software. And whatever you do, avoid opening emails with potentially infected files. You may just save your computer from contracting a nasty illness, and yourself from suffering a terrible headache.

Developing Your Writing: The Introduction

The first paragraph of your writing is the introduction. The introduction should grab the reader's attention by expressing something interesting that makes the reader want to read more. The introduction should also include a topic sentence that states clearly what the essay is about. All the other sentences in the introduction should support the topic sentence.

As you write your introduction, ask yourself:

- Is this paragraph interesting and engaging? Will it make the reader want to know more?
- Does it include a topic sentence that clearly tells the reader what the essay is about?
- Do the other sentences support the topic sentence?

Direct and Indirect Objects

A direct object is a noun or pronoun that receives the action of a verb.

A direct object answers the question what or who.

John wrote the poem. John likes his new teacher.

An indirect object tells us to or for whom the action is done.

There must be a direct object for there to be an indirect object.

John wrote the poem for his mother. John read the poem to the audience.

If there is a preposition, the indirect object goes after the direct object.

She gave the remote control to me.

If there is no preposition, the indirect object goes before the direct object.

She gave me the remote control.

When the direct object is a pronoun, the pronoun goes before the indirect object.

She gave it to me.

To and For Before Indirect Objects

Use to if the indirect object is receiving something. Use to with these verbs: bring, confess, give, hand, lend, offer, pass, pay, promise, read, sell, send, show, take, tell, and write.

Will you pass a pillow to me?

Note: The preposition to is not used when the indirect object comes before the direct object.

Will you pass me a pillow?

2025 - 14

Use for if the indirect object is benefiting from some kind of help. Use for with these verbs: book, build, buy, cook, find, get, keep, leave, make, order, and reserve.

My parents bought a new TV for me.

Note: The preposition for is not used when the indirect object comes before the direct object.

His parents are buying him a new TV for his graduation.

With some verbs, the indirect object always follows the direct object, and the preposition for cannot be omitted: answer, cash, change, close, fix, open, prepare, pronounce, and translate.

Can you please translate the program for me?

8 Reading

Before Reading

Television is popular around the world. Why do you think it is so popular? How much do you know about television?

A Brief Overview of the History of Television

Television was not invented overnight by a single person. The work of many people over a number of decades contributed to its evolution.

In the early days, two distinct schools of thought in technology influenced different researchers and the course of their investigation. The first one was based on the technology of Paul Nipkow's rotating disks that supported a mechanical television system, and the second one on an electronic television system that used a cathode-ray tube developed independently by two inventors, Campbell-Swinton and Rosing.

Paul Nipkow (1860-1940), who invented the Nipkow disk in 1884, was the first person to discover the scanning principle that allowed small portions of an image to be analyzed and transmitted. However, it is unclear whether Nipkow actually built a working prototype of his television system.

Electronic television is based on the development of the cathode-ray tube, which can still be found in modern television sets. Philo Farnsworth (1906-1971) was the first inventor to transmit a television image, a dollar sign, using the dissector tube which is the basis of all current electronic televisions. The American engineer started experimenting with electricity when he was 12, when he built an electric motor and produced an electric washing machine. He was still in high school when he conceived of his ideas for television.

A lot of people wrongly believe that color television is a recent idea. In actual fact, the earliest proposal for color television was patented in 1904, while in 1925 Zworykin filed his proposal for an all-electronic color television system. Commercial broadcasting, however, started in the early 50s, a quarter of a century later.

John Baird (1888–1946) is a researcher who is best a researcher which is a research which is a resear system, based on Nipkow's scanning disk idea. Actually, his work included a number of technological milestones in the history of television. He created the first televised pictures of objects in motion (1924), the first televised human face (1925), color television (1928), stereoscopic television, and television by infra-red light that were presented and demonstrated before the 1930s.

Vladimir Zworykin (1889-1982), the inventor of the iconoscope, a transmission device, as well as the kinescope, i.e. the cathode-ray tube, in 1929, was one of the first to demonstrate a television system with all the features of modern television, otherwise called "the tube." Most people in Britain that use the word tube to refer to television, fail to make the connection between the television set and the cathode-ray tube. Nor do people stop and think about the meaning of the word television, which refers to the transmission of images over a distance. In 1929 Zworykin became the director of electronic research at Radio Corporation of America (RCA), and was later promoted to vice-president in 1947. Zworykin invented many devices including the scintillation counter, a device for measuring radioactivity. He held more than eighty patents and received numerous awards for his work.

Louis W. Parker patented the "intercarrier sound system" in 1948, which is now used in all television receivers in the world. Without it, televisions would probably have been too costly for most people.

The plasma display monitor was invented in July 1964 by professors Bitzer and Slottow and their graduate student Robert Wilson. However, successful plasma television only became feasible later, after the development of digital and other technologies. A factor that delayed the commercial development of plasma display was connected with LCD or liquid crystal displays which made flat screen television possible. This minimized one of the advantages of plasma television in terms of a flat screen with an improved image. So it has taken a lot longer for plasma display to become more widely acceptable and accessible. Until recently, a plasma television screen was regarded, to some extent, as a symbol of affluence or status along with other possessions.

Now a new development is affecting communication and media further, namely that of web or Internet television. When Internet access is available along with adequate hardware, more and more viewers appear to be switching over to their laptops or desktops to watch films and other programs. Television sets are connected, allowing access to digital channels. The key word seems to be access. It is quick access and options that determine the popularity and, consequently, the commercial success of a medium. Television has so far been fairly well-established; it remains to be seen how digital technology will affect its evolution in the future.

A terrifying adventure on water

Moby Dick (1956), directed by John Huston and starring Gregory Peck, Richard Badehart and Leo Genn, is a TV fantasy film adapted from the bestselling novel by Herman Melville.

The story takes place in 19th century England on a whaling ship. The captain of the ship is Captain Ahab. Ahab has a fantastic story to tell about a "great white whale" which mutilated his body and almost killed him on a previous voyage. Now the captain leads his men back into the sea to take revenge. However, Ahab becomes so obsessed with vengeance that he makes some very bad decisions.

The TV film takes us on a grand adventure over the waves as Captain Ahab and his crew seeks out the great sea mammal. As Ahab becomes more and more consumed by hatred, his doomed men are flung into dangerous situations. Does Captain Ahab eventually find the big whale? To find out you will have to watch the film!

If you choose to watch one film version of the novel Moby Dick, you should choose this 1956 version. The acting is good, it is well-directed and the use of color and imagery is superb. I think it is far superior to more recently released TV film versions released TV film versions.

Everyone who read the book and those who enjoy adventure and tales of great battles between man and beast should see this TV film. I definitely recommend it as one of the best of our times. It is staggeringly good.

Writing Corner

When you write a book review:

- think about who will read it (audience) and why they will read it (purpose).
- begin with the title, genre and author.
- summarize the main characters and the plot. Give three or four key events.
- never give away the ending of the story.
- say what was enjoyable or not enjoyable about the book. Use adjectives: interesting, frightening, brilliant, amazing, boring, and so on.
- finish by saying who you would recommend the book to and say why.

Adjective Clauses and Relative Pronouns

An adjective clause is a dependent clause that describes or gives information about the noun that comes before it.

The language that he/she speaks at home is Arabic.

Relative pronouns relate clauses to nouns in adjective clauses. Use the relative pronoun who for people, and which and that for things.

Note: The relative pronoun that can also be used when talking about people in general. However, when a particular person is being referred to, who is preferred.

Relative Pronouns as Subjects of Adjective Clauses

Relative pronouns can be the subject of an adjective clause. Relative pronouns that are followed by a verb are subject pronouns. Subject pronouns must always be included.

I am someone who loves watching quiz shows on TV.

Relative Pronouns as Objects of Adjective Clauses

Relative pronouns can also be the object of an adjective clause. Relative pronouns that are followed by a noun or pronoun are object pronouns. Object pronouns can be omitted.

English is a language (that) many people find easy to learn.

Note: Whom is considered more correct than who when used as the object of an adjective clause. However, whom is very formal. In casual speech, either who is used or the relative pronoun is simply left out.

The Subjunctive

We use the subjunctive to stress the importance or urgency of an action. The subjunctive uses the base form of a verb.

The manager insisted that he work late.

It is important that you be at the meeting.

The subjunctive is used with certain verbs and expressions, like the following:

ask request it is essential demand require it is imperative insist suggest it is important recommend urge it is necessary

The subjunctive follows the sentence pattern: verb or expression + that + subject + (not) base verb

It is essential that you dress appropriately.

She asked that we not be late.

I'd Like You + Infinitive / I Want You + Infinitive

Two common phrases used to express a desire that someone do something are I'd like you + infinitive and I want you + infinitive.

I'd like you to help with this project.

I want you to finish the report this afternoon.

- A. Rearrange the words and phrases to form sentences.
- asks / I work on the weekend / my manager often / that My manager often asks that I work on the weekend.
 - 1. he / that / bring his résumé to the interview / he recommended
 - 2. I / to tell me / want / you / about any problems you have
 - 3. the waiting room / the nurse / that / be kept quiet / requests
 - 4. not / demanded / the boss / he / be late again / that
 - 5. that / you go home early / I / if you're not feeling well / insist
 - 6. you / applying for the job / like / to consider / I'd
 - 7. I look for a job in sales / suggested / that / my job counselor
 - 8. not / that you / quit your job before you find a new one / it is essential
 - 9. that / it is imperative / wash his hands before entering the operating room / the doctor
 - 10. that / race car drivers / it is important / the necessary safety precautions / take

- B. Look at the pictures. What do you think is being said? Write a sentence for each using the subjunctive or I'd like you | I want you + infinitive.
- ? It is essential that we not be late for the meeting.

- C. Write sentences for these situations. Use the subjunctive and I'd like you | I want you + infinitive.

Reading

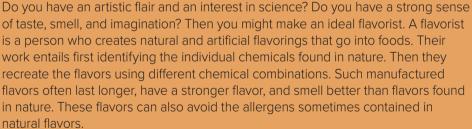

Before Reading

Read the passages and make a list of the unusual jobs.

You Do What for a Living?

When you were a kid, what did you want to be when you grew up? Perhaps a doctor, a teacher, or a firefighter? You probably didn't consider becoming a greeting card writer or a snow researcher (a person who collects ice crystals in snow to analyze the effect of pollution on an area of snowfall). Yet thousands of people around the world earn a living performing unusual jobs that most people have never even heard of.

Take Lily Martinez, for example, she has a job that girls around the world would dream about doing—if they only knew about it! Martinez is a doll fashion designer. She remembers, "As a girl, I would design one-of-a-kind outfits for my dolls." Her work is very similar to the work of regular fashion designers. She analyzes fashion trends, chooses fabrics, draws design sketches, and keeps a close eye on the styles of Paris and New York. Only she does all this to create clothing for 11 ½-inch (29-centimeter) dolls!

According to Carol Militescu, a senior flavorist, there is not one single way to create a flavor. "Different chemical combinations can make the same flavor. You might think the flavors are identical, but how you put the chemicals together makes them very different." Militescu says that to be a successful flavorist, it is essential that you "think outside the box."

وزارة التعــلىم Ministry 74 Education

But perhaps you would prefer a job working with animals? If so, you might consider a career as an elephant pedicurist. It may sound silly, but keeping elephants' nails clean and trim is critical to their health. Like human nails, elephant nails grow continuously. Elephants in the wild wear down their nails naturally, but captive elephants have fewer opportunities to roam. Elephant pedicurists scrape the bottom of the elephants' feet to get rid of calluses, dirt, and embedded rocks that can cause infection. They also trim, file, and shape the elephants' nails.

Mike Hayward, the elephant pedicurist for the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus®, loves his job. He gives pedicures to his twelve elephants every five weeks. The elephants generally cooperate with Hayward, waiting patiently through the two-hour process. Says Hayward, "It's almost like not going to work because the elephants are like my family."

So the next time you mull over your future career path, you might want to consider some non-traditional career options. After all, there just may be a new flavor waiting to be discovered, or an elephant whose feet will benefit from your expert care.

After Reading

Answer the questions.

- 1. What is Lily Martinez's job?
- 2. What are some of her responsibilities?
- 3. Describe what a flavorist does.
- 4. What are some of the benefits of manufactured flavors?
- 5. What does giving an elephant a pedicure entail?
- 6. Why is it important to give pedicures to captive elephants?

The Job of an Arborist

Although my parents would like me to become a doctor or a lawyer, I am interested in a very different kind of job. I would like to be an arborist, a sort of doctor for trees.

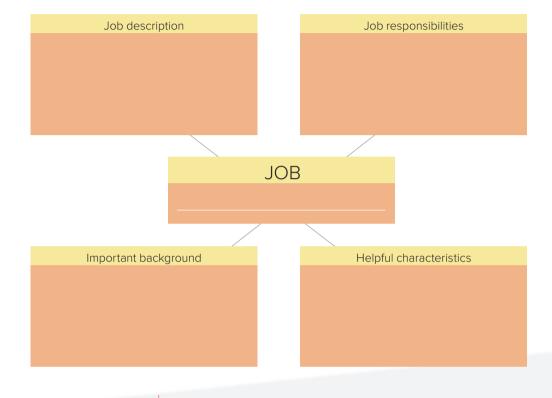

To become an arborist, it is essential that you have a related bachelor's degree, for example in forestry, as the more you know about trees the better you will be able to do what is expected of you.

Arborists are hired by individuals or organizations to keep trees healthy and attractive. They fertilize, prune, plant, and cure trees. In other words, they are a kind of official "tree carer." They are considered experts in their field. For this reason, they need to attend workshops and seminars throughout their career in order to keep up with developments.

I think it's perfect for me. I am interested in working in nature and taking care of things. I like trees. I am patient, methodical, and hard working. Finally, given current trends towards greener alternatives, Pull cill öjljal think there will be plenty of work for arborists in the future, so unemployment will not be a problem.

Grammar

Gerunds After Verbs

Gerunds are the -ing form of a verb. They act like nouns and answer the question what.

I recommend turning off the lights when you leave the room. Our class enjoys learning about ways to help the environment.

We use gerunds after certain verbs, such as:

enjoy	intend	quit
finish	keep	recommend go	like	start
hate	love	stop
imagine	prefer	suggest
	finish go hate	finish keep go like hate love

Infinitives After Verbs

An infinitive is to + the base form of a verb. Like gerunds, infinitives act like nouns and answer the question what.

Don't forget to reuse that plastic container. Do they intend to buy a hybrid car?

We use infinitives after certain verbs, such as:

agree	continue	intend	offer	start ask*	decide	learn	plan	try attempt	expect*	like	prefer	want* begin	forget	love	promise can't stand	hate	need*	remember

^{*}These verbs can be followed by an object before the infinitive.

They want to plant a garden. / They want us to plant a garden.

- A. Circle the correct verb forms. Sometimes both the gerund and the infinitive are possible.
 - Do you want (1. having / to have) a positive impact on the environment? I suggest (2. giving / to give) these steps a try:
 - Do you hate (3. throwing / to throw) away old clothes in the garbage? Consider (4. giving / to give) clothes that no longer fit you to other people who can wear them.
 - Quit (5. using / to use) disposable batteries. Begin (6. using / to use) rechargeable batteries.
 - Learn (7. buying / to buy) products with less packaging. Attempt (8. buying / to buy) large containers of water, juice, and soda instead of individual serving-size containers.
 - · Learn (9. avoiding / to avoid) creating trash whenever possible. For example, when ordering food, avoid (10. taking / to take) any unnecessary utensils and napkins.

Start (11. making / to make) a shopping list before you go shopping. This will help you stop (12. buying / to buy) things you don't need on impulse.

• Keep (13. reusing / to reuse) your supermarket bags.

Jasim: Don't you think it would be a good idea

Ibrahim: I guess. I do feel kind of guilty about it.

But then again, does it really make that

Are you kidding? Recycling reduces Jasim:

It's a no-brainer.

Ibrahim: I just don't have the patience. It seems like a lot of extra work. It's so much easier to just chuck everything in the garbage than to sort it by material for recycling.

8 Reading

Before Reading

Read the passage and underline ways that your country can replace utilities such as electricity, natural gas, and water from the local supply systems.

Ministry Education

Living Off the Grid

Imagine heating your home without relying on the local power plant. Wouldn't it feel good to meet your need for electricity without harming the environment? For a growing number of people, these ideas have become reality. Out of concern for the environment and a desire for self-reliance, these people have made the bold decision to live off the grid.

What exactly is "the grid"? The grid, short for "the power grid," is the linked system that supplies electricity to most homes and buildings in developed nations. Homes that are off the grid are not hooked up to the local power supply. Instead, they produce all of the energy they consume. As a result, people living off the grid avoid the environmental and financial costs that come with on-grid living.

The key to getting off the grid is replacing electricity supplied by a power plant with a renewable energy source, like wind or solar power. Buildings that use solar power have solar panels on the roof or near the building. When the sun's light hits the panels, the panels collect the energy. Wind power is collected by turbines, also known as windmills. When the wind blows, the blades move, producing energy which is turned into electricity by a generator.

Some people go even further off the grid. In addition to setting up a renewable energy source, they also have an independent source of water. They dig wells to access ground water or use a cistern, a type of tank, to collect rainwater. Those most committed to living off the grid may even lack garbage service. These people generally live a life that creates very little waste, growing their own organic fruits and vegetables, and raising chickens and goats for eggs and milk. By avoiding the consumption of packaged foods, they greatly reduce paper and plastic waste.

As challenging as it may be to live off the grid, most off-gridders feel that the benefits far outweigh the difficulties. Jorge and Ella Alvarez, off-gridders in northern Arizona say, "We love being off-grid. It's definitely hard work, but it puts everything in life into perspective. It's surprising to find just how much you can do without. Many people think we have a harsh and depressing lifestyle. Nothing could be further from the truth. We see living off the grid as a gift that has allowed us to be more in touch with nature and each other."

This view is shared by Wendy Johnston, a mother of three, living off the grid with her family in Ontario, Canada. Wendy recalls, "In the house I grew up in, we would leave lights on all day, the thermostat up at night, and water running without a second thought. I wanted my children to be raised with more respect for the environment and an awareness of the impact that they have on it. My children don't take energy for granted. I love the fact that they are learning how to take care of the earth while, at the same time, learning to be self-sufficient."

MG_02_COMBO_TEXT_2025.indb 88 24/4/25 10:09 PM

Wendy admits that living off the grid has its difficulties. For example, the Johnstons' power usually goes down a few times a year. However, Wendy reflects, "The funny thing is that these often turn out to be some of our best times as a family. The power outages have an unexpected way of bringing us closer together. We read books and play games by candlelight, or we get together and tell stories."

Living off the grid entails sacrifices, and is certainly not for everyone. But for the thousands of people who have made this bold choice, life off the grid is filled with rewards that can't be matched by the conveniences and luxuries of life on the grid.

After Reading

Answer the questions.

Going Green

I realized how sensible "going green" was when I started noticing the amount of waste accumulated from all the packaging. We're a family of three and we manage to accumulate a bagful of recyclable waste every day. We are careful to use a special disposal unit for recyclable materials, but we are not sure it is always effective. Is it actually recycled?

We decided to search for options.
We found out that there were many stores near the central market that sold goods by weight out of large canisters or burlap bags. Rice, beans, flour, sugar, oil, butter, cheese, and a lot more are available off the counter, free of packaging. When we compared prices, we decided to never look back.

A lot of time, money, and resources are invested in packaging as a way of making the product more attractive for consumers. Glossy wrappers, beautifully designed boxes, vacuum wrapped coffee, plastic containers, colorful lids, and a lot more, have a magnetic effect on buyers. We, on the other hand, have to label and fill our own containers, before we can put away our shopping. But, we make better use of cupboard space, spend a lot less, and protect the environment. You should try it!

Environmentally harmful practices	'Go greener' practices	Steps our local council can take to help

Dear Editor,

I am writing to complain about the environmentally harmful practices of local residents and the negligence of the council in failing to take measures to make our neighborhoods greener.

The garbage is seldom collected, and there is overflowing trash on a daily basis. When it is windy, there are plastic containers on a daily basis blowing around everywhere...

and cardboard boxes blowing around everywhere...

I suggest the council makes it a priority to provide recycling bins

2 Reading

Before Reading

- 1. What color is the room you are in now? How does the color make you feel?
- 2. Have you ever painted a room? If so, what color did you choose and why?

I want you to imagine yourself in a room painted a light blue color. Now, imagine yourself in a vibrant red room. Do you think you would feel differently in each of these rooms? If you are like most people, you would feel calmer in the blue room and more energized in the red room. Why is this? Psychological studies have found that different colors can have different effects on mood and behavior.

People have a tendency to associate colors with where these colors appear in nature. So, for example, without realizing it we associate soft shades of blue with the sky and sea. These associations make blue a calming color for most people. Asuka Obata runs a spa in Kyoto, Japan. All the walls of the salon are blue. Obata says, "It is essential that we create a sense of peace and tranquility. The color blue helps us achieve this."

Red, however, is associated with fire and blood. So red is also associated with danger and vitality. The color red has even been shown to raise blood pressure! Adrian Vilas of Cordoba, Argentina, painted his office red. He says, "I like being surrounded by a color that gives me energy and inspiration." On the other hand, have you ever wondered why traffic lights and stop signs utilize the color red? To warn of danger, of course.

While we all share natural associations with certain colors, the same color may have a very different meaning to people of two different cultures.

The colors black and white provide a good example of how people can have different cultural responses to colors. In many cultures, black symbolizes death and mourning, and so black is the traditional color worn to funerals. However, in Asia it is not black that represents mourning, but white. So in Asia, white is the color people usually wear when they attend funerals.

In most other cultures, far from being associated with funerals, white represents purity, innocence, and goodness. For this reason, white is traditionally worn by brides in these cultures. However, in China, since white is the color of mourning, it is important that a bride not wear white. Instead, the traditional color worn by a bride in China is red. In Chinese culture, red represents happiness and good luck, and so Chinese celebrations are full of red. During the Chinese New Year, people prefer wearing red to any other color and older family members give money in red envelopes to younger members of the family.

Clearly, the way we respond to color is a complicated business. You may think you are choosing a red shirt just because you like the color. But the truth is, you are probably responding to it based on what your brain, the environment, and your culture tell you about the color!

Writing Prompt

Write an expository essay about what different colors, symbols, customs, or gestures mean in your culture. Say what you think this shows about your culture. Include grammar points from Units 4–6.

In an expository essay, the writer explains, describes, or gives information about a subject.

Write Your Expository Essay

1. Decide whether you will write about colors, symbols, customs, or gestures in your culture. What do you think these show about your culture? This will be your topic sentence.

- 2. Use a chart to organize your ideas. Write your topic sentence in the center circle. Then write ideas which support this topic sentence in the surrounding circles.
- 3. Write a draft of your expository essay.
- 4. Have a partner read and comment on your draft. Use your partner's comments and suggestions to revise your essay.

Developing Your Writing: Body Paragraphs that Support the Topic Sentence

The paragraphs of an essay between the introduction and conclusion are called the body of the essay. Each body paragraph must have one main idea, as well as examples, definitions, facts, or statistics which support that main idea. The main idea of each body paragraph must relate to and support the topic sentence in the introduction.

As you write the body of your essay, ask yourself:

- Does each paragraph have one main idea?
- Is this main idea supported by examples, definitions, facts, and/or statistics?
- Does each paragraph support the topic sentence in the introduction?

Customs and Gestures in Korean Culture
To understand the perspective of Korean people, it is important to understand their customs and gestures. I believe that Korean customs and gestures show that the Korean culture is quite traditional and conservative.

One aspect of Korean culture that is traditional and conservative is greeting people. Korean people usually bow when they meet one another. When Koreans are introduced to someone for the first time, they generally do not smile. Smiling is reserved for informal occasions. Koreans also consider staring impolite. We prefer to make only brief eye contact. When meeting a Korean person, I suggest you avoid looking into his/her eyes for more than a moment or two...

B. Read the texts and find out.

Have you noticed how often people, who spend a long time sitting at a desk, complain about back pain? When we've been sitting for a long time we are not conscious of our posture. Slouching affects the position of our neck and spine and causes back pains or even headaches. A small gadget that operates as a "slouch detector" comes to the rescue! The gadget monitors your neck and spinal position and buzzes, when the position is less than ideal! All you need to do is clip the gadget onto your shirt. However, you need to remember not to take any notice when the gadget buzzes for the wrong reason; for example when you lean over to answer the phone or get something from a drawer! Do you think the slouch detector is worth buying? Would you use it?

An Australian biogeneticist and his team began developing a vitamin-A-enriched banana to combat the destructive effects of vitamin A deficiency in sub-Saharan Africa. The banana was chosen as it made up a lot of the children's diet in the area, where about a third of the children under the age of 5 are at risk of going blind due to vitamin A deficiency. Provided that this type of "super banana" can actually be cultivated locally, and consumed by a substantial number of people, this type of food re-engineering might be extended to a wider range of products around the world. What do you think? Is intervening and reengineering crops a good idea?

Evidence has led scientists to suggest that early humans cooked their first hot meals more than 1.9 m years ago. The invention of cooking was a crucial factor in human evolution as it allowed our ancestors to expand their diet and to obtain more calories and nutrients from their food. Cooking softened food and made endless chewing redundant. This, according to scientists, resulted in the disappearance of large teeth which were replaced by smaller ones. It also reduced feeding times considerably and allowed early humans to develop different skills. According to Harvard evolutionary biologist, Richard Wrangham, controlling and using fire to cook was instrumental to the development of modern man. What do you think? *

Hagfish, according to fossil records, have existed for over 300 million years. They are often called slime eels because of the slimy substance they produce, with the purpose of damaging the gills of predatory fish. As a result, hagfish have no natural enemies. The Coelacanth is the most famous "living fossil". It was supposed to have become extinct in the Cretaceous period, along with the dinosaurs, until a live specimen was caught in South Africa in the late 1930s. Since then, more coelacanths have been seen and photographed. A second coelacanth species was found in Indonesia in 1999. Coelacanths can be up to 2 meters long and feed on smaller fish, in deep, dark waters. Did you know? Have you heard of other prehistoric animals that are still alive? *

Research findings support the belief that a number of animals laugh when tickled! Scientists believe that nonhuman primates not only laugh but also have a sense of humor. Koko was a famous gorilla in California who learned more than two thousand words and one thousand American Sign Language signs, and demonstrated the ability to use different meanings of the same word. When asked about things she thought were hard, she signed, "rock" and "work"! She also tied her trainer's shoelaces together before signing "chase" and turning to walk away! What do you think?

8 Reading

Before Reading

Work in pairs. Which do you think are the main strengths of the people and the economy of Saudi Arabia? Read the passage and underline all the positive features about people and the economy.

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia is blessed with a significant wealth of natural resources, an Islamic, family oriented society and extraordinary opportunities for economic growth. The nation's Islamic faith, national identity, culture and heritage make it special and provide limitless potential for development.

The nation is honored to welcome and serve an increasing number of pilgrims and visitors, from across the globe, every year. The expansion of the Two Holy Mosques and the upgrading of services and facilities had helped to cater for 15 million visitors from its development until 2020. These improvements will continue to ensure that all pilgrims are well looked after when they visit.

The People

Saudi Arabia's 2030 vision is largely based on the ambition, determination and talents of its people and their Islamic values. It is important, therefore, for the members of the Saudi society to be supported by social, health care and educational systems in order to cultivate and nurture its children in the best way possible to prepare them for a promising future.

Cultural and entertainment projects will include the establishment of libraries, galleries, museums and the organization of different types of events and activities. Housing and community development projects will provide a pleasant, secure and sustainable environment for the citizens of the Kingdom.

An updated educational system will provide high quality learning and develop available talent and potential. Graduates will have the knowledge and skills required by the job market and access to many opportunities for professional development.

The Economy

The Kingdom's economy has great growth potential. A diversified and renewed business environment will offer employment opportunities to all citizens and attract new investors. Improved and updated services and facilities will attract small and large companies, interested in participating actively in a dynamic economy. Telecommunications and information technology will be updated and made available in urban and rural areas.

The Kingdom's strategic position that connects the waterways of three continents, Europe, Africa and Asia, will make it a leading trading and transportation port for cargo from different countries across the globe. Streamlined government services will facilitate the introduction of new business sectors and partners and support growth. Investment opportunities will be increased through privatization of state owned assets and agencies.

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia will be a leading business hub with limitless opportunities for the development of new talent and creative enterprises.

Thome over the canyon

When people talk about unusual homes, I think of our friends' dream home in New Mexico, on which they spent all their savings building it.

On the outside, the house looks like most adobe homes in the area. Adobe is made from sand, clay, water, and organic material that are shaped into bricks and left to dry in the sun. Our friends' house is a beautifully-designed, large adobe home with a drive and a large cactus tree near the entrance. It has soft lines, and is less angular than conventional urban homes.

When you go through the door, you find yourself in a beautiful, spacious room with large windows and sunlight streaming in. Large windows are unusual for adobe homes. But this is no ordinary home. Part of the house juts out of the adobe shell that can be seen from the street and stretches to the end of a cliff. You walk past a kitchen fitted with a cast-iron stove and hand-made wooden cabinets that give off the most enticing smells of cumin and chilies and herbs. It is so real; you can almost taste the food.

The spacious room that you step into when you enter the house stretches in all directions. You walk towards the sitting area. When you get closer, you need to brace yourself as the most spectacular view imaginable unfolds before your eyes. All of a sudden, you are no longer stepping on wood, the floor is hard, and your footsteps make a strange resounding sound. You look down and wonder whether you have been transported in space and time; you are looking into the gaping canyon. You think you are falling into it; you can almost feel the air whooshing past.

Part of the floor is made of thick custom-designed glass. You might like it or hate it, but however you feel you have to admit it is unique. This is the way I feel about this house and the day I spent there. It was a unique, unforgettable experience even if I wouldn't choose to live with a glass floor over a canyon for the rest of my life.

Would you?

My Grandparents' House

The home that means the most to me is my grandparents' house. Each time
I go there, I feel a sense of comfort and warmth. Now that I'm in college,
I don't get to spend much time there. But whenever I miss it, I just imagine it.
When you first walk into my grandparents' house...

Writing Corner

When you write a descriptive essay:

- brainstorm about the topic and write down as many notes as you can about your memories and impressions of the house/place.
- make an outline of your essay and decide what each paragraph/section is going to focus on.
- include factual information, e.g. size, number of rooms, etc. as well as feelings/impressions.
- visualize the place you want to write about so you can help your reader visualize it too.
- use different senses, i.e. sight, feelings, smell, sound, and taste to make it more vivid.
- remember that smell is usually the most vivid and best retained memory.
- think of the first and last thing(s) you see, hear, feel, or smell (or almost taste) when you are there.

Listen and Discuss

Make a list of what you already know about the Olympic Games. Then read the passage and underline the facts about the Games that are new to you.

Fascinating Olympic Facts

The ancient Olympic Games began in Greece in 776 B.C.E. and were held every four years until 393 C.E. It wasn't until about 1,500 years later, in the mid-1800s, that the games were revived in Greece. But the Olympics didn't become the event we know today until 1896, when a French historian named Pierre de Coubertin had the idea of making the games international, and founded the International Olympic Committee.

Medals weren't always a part of the Olympics. Giving medals to winners is a practice that began in 1896, and between 1896 and 1904, the top prize was a silver medal.

The youngest person that has ever competed in the Olympics was Dimitrios Loundras, a ten-year-old gymnast on the 1896 Greek gymnastics team.

Lighting the Olympic torch does not involve a match. It is lit using only the light of the sun and a special mirror.

At various times, the Olympics have included such unusual events as a swimming obstacle race, a tug of war, and live pigeon shooting.

The gold medal is not made of gold! It's actually 92.5 percent silver with a covering of six grams of gold.

The marathon is an event named after the run of a Greek soldier, Pheidippides. In 490 B.C.E., Pheidippides ran from Marathon to Athens (about 26 miles, or 42 kilometers) to deliver news about the Greeks' success in a battle. Running through the mountains and rocky land was extremely difficult. After Pheidippides arrived in Athens and delivered his news, he fell down and died. The first modern Olympics in 1896 included a race of 26 miles (42 kilometers), called a marathon, to commemorate Pheidippides' run.

Because the Greeks originated the Olympics, the Greek team always leads the procession of athletes during the opening ceremony of the Olympic Games. They are followed by the other teams in alphabetical order. The hosting country goes last.

Dropping sports from the Olympics is not uncommon. In fact, many popular sports have been dropped through the years, including rugby, golf, baseball, and softball. Adding a new event can only happen if another one is dropped.

Gerunds as Subjects

A gerund or a gerund phrase can be the subject of a sentence.

Swimming uses more muscles of the body than almost any other form of exercise.

Watching sports isn't nearly as fun as playing them.

Make a gerund or gerund phrase negative by putting not before it.

Not exercising is a sure way to gain weight.

Not warming up before you exercise can lead to injuries.

Note that a gerund subject takes a singular verb.

Getting in shape takes time and effort.

Superlative + Present Perfect

The present perfect can be used after a superlative.

This is the most exciting sporting event I've been to in a long time.

8 Reading

Before Reading

Which winter sports have you watched, heard/read about, or participated in? Where are winter sports more popular? Why?

A country born SKIS

Norway, a small country of 5.5 million inhabitants, has won more Winter Games medals than any other nation. It became the first country to win 100 Olympic gold medals, and reached the 300-medal milestone in the Winter Games of 2010.

Norwegians go cross-country skiing , ski-jumping , or downhill skiing on weekends, on holidays, and after work. When the snow starts melting in spring, they move it up to the mountains. And if there is no access to snow, they skate on ice. 2,500 lit tracks all over the country make it possible for people to ski in winter, although it gets dark early.

Norwegians have enjoyed skiing for thousands of years. A rock carving in Nordland County in the north provides evidence that the use of skis dates back to the Stone Age. Until about a century ago, skis were the only means of transport in winter and essential for hunting.

Skiing did not become a mass sport until the mid-1880s when the first competitions were arranged. Sondre Norheim, who is considered the father of modern skiing, was the originator of the Telemark skis, which are narrower in the middle than at the front and back and have stiff heel bindings. The shape made turning easier, and the heel binding allowed skiers to jump from rooftops or over rocks without losing their skis.

Polar explorers made skis known internationally and demonstrated their unique merits on terrain that could not be crossed any other way. Roald Amundsen was the first man to reach the South Pole in 1911, on skis. Fridtjof Nansen crossed the Greenland interior on skis in 1880.

Other explorers have followed the routes used by these two famous explorers and skied to both the North and South Poles.

Biathlon

Freestyle skiing

Ice hockey

Luge

Mordic combined

Short track

Ski jumping

Speed skating

Annual cross-country events are organized throughout Norway, attracting a great number of participants. Such events are not restricted to athletes, but include "keep fit" categories that allow more people to participate. Enjoying the exercise and nature is as important as achieving the fastest time and winning prizes in these events.

Biathlon was first included in the Winter Olympic program in 1960. It is a cross-country skiing race interspersed with shooting contests. Norwegians are very strong cross-country skiers and have won most of the cross-country skiing medals in the Winter Olympics over the years.

Alpine skiing whas also gained a lot of followers, as has freestyle , which is a relatively newer sport. Norwegians are among the world's best in freestyle.

Speed skating 🚰 used to be a large spectator and participation sport on a par with cross-country skiing. Cross-country skiing, ski jumping, and Alpine skiing seem to have taken over and overshadowed speed skating, although Norwegian speed skaters are among the best in the world.

In winter in Norway, every sheet of ice is covered with children playing hockey or skating. Indoor rinks are also used for skating and ice hockey. While other Scandinavians huddle around fireplaces, Norwegians bundle up and go out skiing. This could explain the reason why they have won such an astounding number of medals in the Winter Olympics.

2.	defending zone
3.

Ice hockey is played on a rink that is 200 feet (61 meters) long and 85 feet (26 meters) wide with painted lines to indicate various zones. The area behind the blue line of a team's side is called its defending zone. The area behind the opponent's blue line is the attacking zone, and the area between the two blue lines is the neutral zone. There are two sets of goal posts at either end of the rink with a net attached behind them. The red line between the two posts is the goal line. The area in front of the goal is called the crease.

(2)Each team has three kinds of players: three forwards (the center and two wingers), two defensemen, and a goaltender.

(3)The objective of the game is to score goals by shooting the puck, a hard rubber disk, into the opponent's net. The players control the puck with a long stick curved at one end. They also wear a lot of padding and helmets to avoid getting hurt.

(4)Players are not allowed to use their hands in order to redirect the puck nor pass it to their teammates, unless they are in the defensive zone. They may redirect the puck with any other part of their bodies, but not kick it.

(5) The boards surrounding the ice keep the puck in the rink and are used to "bodycheck" opponents, i.e. push them against the boards in order to stop their progress. Play can also be stopped if a goal is knocked out of position. It is then restarted with a face-off, i.e. two players face each other on the ice and try to gain control of the puck that an official drops to the ice.

(6)If an offensive player interferes with a goaltender's defense he is given a penalty and sent to the penalty box for two to five minutes.

4. Check you have understood the instructions on how to play the game. Close your book and tell your partner.

- B. 1. Choose a sport or a recreational activity that you like doing.

Present Perfect Progressive versus Present Perfect Simple

Use the present perfect progressive tense to talk about an action that started in the past and has a connection with the present time. The action may or may not have finished.

Use the present perfect progressive to emphasize the results of the action.

Use the present perfect progressive to say how long something has been happening.

Use the present perfect simple to say how many things have been done.

Present Perfect Progressive

Present Perfect Simple

How long have you been learning to ski? I have been learning how to ski for six months. I have attended five cross-country skiing events.

Use the present perfect progressive tense with for to indicate the duration of the action: for two months, for a year, for a long time.

Use the present perfect progressive with since to indicate when the action began: since yesterday, since last June, since 2010.

Use the present perfect progressive with all... and so on to talk about the duration of the action, which may or may not have finished: all day, all week, all month, all year, all my life.

Adverbs of Manner

Adverbs of manner express how something is done. They are normally formed by adding -ly to an adjective.

How did he explain? He explained carefully.

Sometimes an adjective and adverb have the same form.

He's a fast runner. → He runs fast. He's a hard worker. → He works hard.

The adverb form of good is well.

Can Ali dive? Yes. He's a good diver. He dives really well.

Comparative Forms of Adjectives and Adverbs

The comparative form of most one syllable adjectives and adverbs is formed by adding -er: slow—slower; fast—faster; hard—harder.

Some comparative forms of adjectives are irregular: good—better; bad—worse

The comparative form of most two or more syllable adjectives and adverbs is formed by adding more: difficult—more difficult; carefully—more carefully.

Adjective Comparative

Listen and Discuss

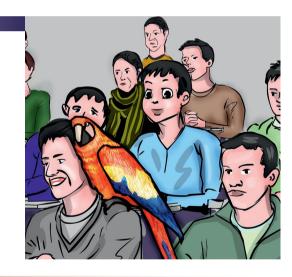

- 1. What TV show or comedian makes you laugh the most? Why?
- 2. What is the funniest joke you know?
- 3. What do you think makes a joke funny?

A family of mice were being chased by a cat. The scared mice were cornered when the father mouse turned around and barked "Ruff! Ruff! Ruff!" The surprised cat ran away. When one of the young mice said, "Nice going, Dad," the father mouse replied, "You see son, it pays to be bilingual!"

A student with a parrot on his shoulder leaves a lecture theater. Another student follows him. He stops him and says, "I'm sorry to bother you, but I have to say, I was astonished by your parrot's remarkable reaction to the lecture on ancient history. He seemed frightened at the frightening parts, sad at the depressing parts, fascinated at the interesting parts, and amused at the funny parts. I could have sworn, I even heard it laugh. I have to say, I was amazed. Don't you find it surprising?" "Yes," he replies, "I was very surprised. He hated the class!"

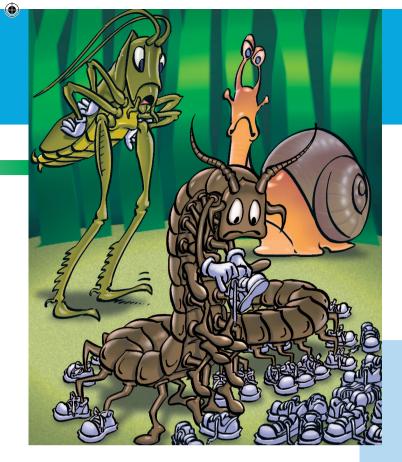

A truck driver is driving a truckload of penguins to the zoo in the next town, when his truck breaks down. While he's working on the truck, another truck driver stops and asks if he needs help. The first truck driver says, "If I gave you $100, would you take these penguins to the zoo?" The second trucker agrees to do it. Hours later, the truck driver is still trying to fix his truck when the second truck driver drives past with all of the penguins still in his truck. The puzzled first truck driver says, "Didn't you take them to the zoo?" The second truck driver says, "Yes, we went to the zoo, and there was money left over. So now we're going to a restaurant."

A grasshopper, a snail, and a centipede are relaxing in the grasshopper's house, when they realize that they are getting hungry. They decide that one of them should go out for a pizza. The snail says, "I'd go, but I'm kind of slow." The grasshopper says, "I don't mind going, but my hopping will shake the pizza and mess it up." So they decide to send the centipede. The snail and grasshopper wait and wait. The longer they wait, the hungrier they get. Finally, when an hour passes and the centipede still hasn't returned, the irritated snail and grasshopper decide to go look for him. They get as far as the front door where they find the centipede sitting there putting on his shoes.

Past and Present Participial Adjectives

The past participle and the present participle forms of a verb can be used as adjectives.

Past participles generally end in -ed (but can also end in -d, -t, -en, or -n) and describe how someone feels.

The mice were frightened of the cat.

Present participles always end in -ing and describe what causes the feeling.

The cat was frightening.

Participial adjectives can appear after be or in front of nouns.

My grandfather's stories about his childhood are amusing.

My grandfather tells amusing stories about his childhood.

Get + Adjective; Get + Past Participle

Get before an adjective or past participle suggests that something is changing or starting to happen.

Get can be followed by an adjective.

The grasshopper and the snail got impatient waiting for the centipede.

It's almost time for me to give my presentation. I am getting nervous.

Get can also be followed by a past participle which functions as an adjective.

You should put on sunscreen. You're getting sunburned.

My mother gets worried if I'm not home by 10:00.

The...the Comparatives

The...the is used with two comparatives to say that the first thing has an effect on the second.

The longer the telephone call, the bigger the telephone bill.

The funnier the joke, the harder the audience laughs.

The more I get to know my classmates, the better I like them.

Charlie: Hi Hashim. How are you doing?

Hashim: Oh. I don't know. To tell you the truth, I'm feeling a bit down. I think the weather is getting to me. I'm tired of all this rain.

Charlie: You know what you need to cheer you up? A few good laughs. I've got a couple of killer jokes for you.

Hashim: I don't know, Charlie. I'm not a big fan of jokes.

Charlie: Just listen. Here's a good one. A cowboy rides into town on Sunday, stays for three days, and leaves on Sunday. How is this possible?

Hashim: I don't know. How?

Charlie: Because his horse's name is "Sunday"! Well, what's the matter? Don't you get it?

Hashim: Yeah. I get it. Though it didn't exactly blow me away.

Charlie: How about this one. Why is six afraid of seven?

Because seven ate nine. Get it? "Ate" like the number "eight"?

Hashim: Yeah, I get it. I just don't think it's funny. But, I do feel better.

Charlie: If you didn't think they were funny, why do you feel better?

Hashim: Because you're trying to cheer me up. You're

Laugh Out Loud

Reading

Before Reading

- 1. What do you think each Hadith means? Discuss your thoughts in class.
- 2. Read the passage and underline important details about laughter.

Islam encourages smiling and moderate laughter.

For example, the following two Hadith indicate the virtue of smiling in Islam:

"Your smiling in the face of your brother is a charitable act." (Aladab Almufrad, 891)

"Don't consider anything insignificant out of good things even if it is that you meet your brother with a cheerful face." (Sahih Muslim, 2626)

Laughter Really Is The Best Medicine

Are you feeling run-down? Stressed? Do you get sick easily? The solution to your problems may be surprisingly simple: Try laughing. Countless research studies have shown the amazing number of ways that laughter positively impacts both our mind and body.

Laughter has an immediate beneficial effect on our mood and sense of well-being. Generally speaking, the harder you laugh, the better you feel. But why is this? Research has found that laughter offers some of the same benefits as exercise. When you laugh, that laughter stretches, tones, and strengthens muscles in your face and body. It increases your heart rate and causes you to breathe faster, which increases oxygen levels in your body. According to William F. Fry, M.D., Associate Professor of Clinical Psychiatry at Stanford University, "Laughing 100–200 times per day is the cardiovascular equivalent of rowing for 10 minutes."

One study even found that laughter can help people lose weight. Researchers discovered that laughing out loud for 10–15 minutes a day can burn up to 50 calories. However, this certainly doesn't mean you should give up a visit to the gym for a hearty laugh. At the rate of 200 calories per hour, it would take over 17 hours of non-stop laughter to lose a single pound (450 grams)!

People who laugh often have other physical advantages as well. They tend to have lower blood pressure and lower stress levels. They tend to get sick less often because laughter has been shown to increase infection-fighting antibodies. Laughter has also been found to help fight disease and to help people recover from illness. This has led many hospitals to create programs designed to make patients laugh. For example, it is quite common to see a red-nosed clown joking with young patients in the pediatric ward. Hundreds of hospitals also provide patients with "humor carts," loaded with humorous cartoons, DVDs, comic books, and funny props.

Laughter has also been found to make people alert, stimulate the brain, and enhance learning. It also helps people to be more productive, to communicate more effectively, to sleep more soundly, and to form friendships more easily. In the mid-1990s, a doctor from India was struck by these benefits and brainstormed a way to bring more laughter into his patients' lives. The doctor, Madan Kataria, gathered a group of people together in a local park to practice laughing as part of a "laughter club." During the club meetings, Kataria would prompt members to laugh in a variety of ways.

Ministry 4 oducation 2025 - 1447

For example, he would tell them to greet one another with a laugh, or to laugh like a lion. Although Kataria discovered that fake laughter produces the same health benefits as genuine laughter, he was gratified to find that it usually didn't take long for fake laughter to turn into real laughter.

This idea of laughter clubs has been extremely successful. There are now more than 8,000 laughter clubs in 60 different countries. It seems laughter is indeed infectious! Now that you know the health benefits of laughter, think about ways you could bring more laughter into your life. Whether you go to comedy clubs, joke with a friend, or watch more comedies, your mind and body will soon be enjoying the many benefits of a good laugh.

- A. What is a sitcom?
 - 1. Read the text and find out about sitcoms.
 - 2. Think of sitcoms you have watched. Do you enjoy watching them? Why? Why not?
 - 3. Who are your favorite characters? Why?

A sitcom is a situation comedy without an ending. It consists of episodes, but the situation goes on. The television sitcom was born in the 1940s and 1950s. It had originally existed as a radio show that listeners would tune into every week to spend some time with familiar characters they grew to know and liked.

When television arrived in the late 1940s, shows were filmed in front of a live studio audience, with three cameras recording everything for later editing. In the 60s sitcoms combined fantasy with comedy and used a laugh track instead of a live studio audience. In the 70s social issues were included, but in the 80s there was a return to the original family concept, the most important success factor behind sitcoms.

Nowadays, shows are filmed with a single camera, on location or on studio sets, with no laugh track or live audience.

2 Reading

Before Reading

- 1. Has anyone ever played a trick on you? If so, explain what happened.
- 2. Have you ever played a trick on someone else? If so, explain what you did.

Can You Believe They Believed It?

In many countries around the world, the first day of April is a day for playing tricks and pulling pranks. Many of the most amusing and memorable tricks that have been played on this day have been perpetrated by the media.

Perhaps one of the funniest pranks to have ever been pulled off happened on April 1, 1957. On this day, a well-respected British news show called Panorama aired a segment focusing on a supposed spaghetti harvest in southern Switzerland! The anchorman explained that the mild winter had resulted in a huge spaghetti crop. As the anchorman gave details about the "spaghetti crop," video footage was shown of Swiss people pulling fresh, long strands of spaghetti off of "spaghetti trees" and putting them in baskets.

Convincing viewers wasn't very difficult. Apparently, this segment was realistic enough to fool a huge number of people. Hundreds of fascinated viewers called into the television station wanting to find out how they could grow their own spaghetti tree. They were told, "Place a sprig of spaghetti in a tin of tomato sauce and hope for the best." As one studio worker remembers, "The more people called, the harder we laughed."

Another nationally broadcast prank occurred in Sweden in 1962. At the time the country had only one television channel, and it broadcast in black and white. The station had their technical expert announce to the viewers that a new technology had been created. Astonished viewers listened as he explained that this technology would make it possible to see color images on their black and white television sets. Accomplishing this was easy, he assured the audience. He explained that all that viewers needed to do to convert their black and white televisions to color was to pull a nylon stocking over the screen. He also advised moving one's head very carefully back and forth to see the best picture. Many viewers got excited, and thousands tried it. Today many Swedes still recall family members running around the house trying to find nylon stockings to place over their television set.

Another remarkable prank was pulled by an Australian news program in 1975. On the program that evening it was announced that Australia would be converting to "metric time." It was explained that under metric time, there would be 100 seconds in a minute, 100 minutes in an hour, and 20 hours in a day. It was also explained that seconds would become millidays, minutes would become centidays, and hours would become decidays. The report had many convincing details, including an interview with South Australia's deputy premier and a shot of Adelaide's town hall clock, with its "new" 10-hour metric clock face. Many people fell for the trick. Some even got angry about it. One viewer was particularly irritated because, as he explained, he had just bought a new clock and thought that it was now useless.

Sometimes it seems the sillier the hoax, the more likely people are to fall for it! So the next time you hear something that sounds too silly to be true, look at your calendar and make sure that it isn't April first!

- Blowfish, which are considered a delicacy in Japan, contain deadly toxins. If not properly prepared, eating blowfish can lead to death by poisoning. Victims usually die within 4 to 24 hours of consuming the fish. Blowfish diners count on specially licensed chefs to prepare the fish safely.
- Frozen vegetables are at least as nutritious as fresh vegetables, and may sometimes actually be healthier. Fresh vegetables are at their nutritional peak at the moment they are picked. However, they often spend days or weeks in transit, in the produce aisle, and in your refrigerator. Over time, vegetables lose vitamins and minerals. However, frozen vegetables are picked and frozen at their peak. Freezing locks the vitamins and minerals in. When you do buy fresh vegetables, try to pick out ones that seem fresh and have been grown locally.

- A number of studies have shown that chocolate consumption may reduce the risk of developing heart disease and cancer. Scientists believe that antioxidants reduce the chances of developing these diseases. Antioxidants are also thought to enhance blood flow and help maintain healthy cholesterol levels. Dark chocolate and cocoa powder are particularly rich sources of antioxidants. In fact, ounce for ounce, dark chocolate and cocoa have more antioxidants than antioxidant-rich foods like blueberries and green tea. Of course, it's not good to eat too much chocolate, but it's not a good idea to cut chocolate out altogether, either.
- 4 Up to eighty percent of taste comes not from our taste buds, but from our sense of smell. Taste buds allow us to identify bitter, salty, sweet, and sour flavors. But we depend on the smell of foods to give us most of our sense of flavor. So without smelling the aroma of a food, it is difficult to distinguish one flavor from another. (Incidentally, this is why food loses its flavor when you have a stuffed-up nose!)
- Many food items with a deep red color, including fruit juices, candies, and gelatin, include a dye called cochineal or carmine. This dye comes from the shells of the female cochineal insect, which is found in South and Central America. The dye has been used for centuries and dates back to the Aztecs.

3 Grammar 👊

Phrasal Verbs

A phrasal verb is made up of a verb + a particle. A particle is a word that is used as an adverb or a preposition. The particle gives the verb a different meaning. One verb can be combined with different particles to create different meanings.

Didn't you like the dinner? You only picked at it. (pick at = eat without enthusiasm)

My sister picks on me for being a vegetarian. (pick on = tease)

We need to pick out a restaurant for the celebration. (pick out = choose)

Will you pick up a gallon of milk on your way home? (pick up = get, buy)

Separable and Nonseparable Phrasal Verbs

Some phrasal verbs are nonseparable. The noun or pronoun always follows the particle.

I ran into Reema at the supermarket. (NOT: I ran Reema into at the supermarket.)

I ran into her. (NOT: I ran her into.)

call for look into come from tire of come across go on run into turn out

Many phrasal verbs are separable. A noun object can come after the particle.

The chef cut up the steak into small pieces.

A noun object can come in between the verb and the particle.

The chef cut the steak up into small pieces.

If a pronoun object is used, it must come between the verb and the particle.

The chef cut it up into small pieces. (NOT: The chef cut up it into small pieces.)

burn off point out talk over turn down cut up put on tell apart turn into figure out send back think over wake up fit in take off throw away whip up give up take out throw out

Three-Word Phrasal Verbs

Three-word phrasal verbs consist of a verb + a particle + a preposition. Three-word phrasal verbs are nonseparable. The noun or pronoun always comes after the phrasal verb.

The doctor says you must cut down on sugar. (NOT: You must cut sugar down on.)

catch up on drop out of get along with look forward to come down with feel up to get rid of make do with come up with get away with load up on run out of look down on take care of cut down on get down to

10 You Are What You Eat

Before Reading

Read the article and underline the information that tells you how certain popular foods were discovered.

accidental Food Discoveries

Can you imagine a world without cool, creamy ice-cream cones? Isn't it depressing to imagine life without chewy, delicious, chocolate chip cookies? And who could get by without salty, addictive, crispy potato chips? Yet all these treats are fairly recent inventions that may never have come into existence if it weren't for lucky accidents.

But, perhaps your dessert of choice on a hot day is an ice-cream cone. If so, you should be glad for the unexpected event that brought two men together at the 1904 St. Louis World's Fair. An ice-cream vendor named Charles Menches was doing such booming business that he ran out of bowls to put the ice cream in. The vendor next to Menches was a young Syrian immigrant named Ernest Hamwi. Hamwi was selling a Syrian treat called zalabia, a crisp, wafer-like pastry. Hamwi came up with a solution to Menches' quandary. Hamwi rolled some of his warm pastry into a cone so that Menches could put ice cream inside. In that instant, a favorite international hot weather treat was born.

Of course, not everyone is a fan of frozen treats. Some prefer the indulgence of delicious freshly baked goods, like chocolate chip cookies. These people should be grateful for an accidental discovery made by an American housewife in 1930. One day Ruth Wakefield was making chocolate cookies when she realized that she had run out of baker's chocolate. Wakefield decided to substitute broken-up pieces of a chocolate bar she had on hand. She assumed that the small pieces of chocolate would melt and mix into the batter. However, after taking the cookies out of the oven, Wakefield discovered that the chocolate hadn't melted. Instead, there were little chips of chocolate throughout the cookie. Much to Wakefield's delight, the chocolate chip cookie proved to be a great success with her family and guests. Wakefield sold the recipe to the chocolate company Nestlé® in exchange for a lifetime supply of chocolate chips. It wasn't long before the chocolate chip cookie became a world-famous treat.

وزارة التعــلام Ministry 60 ducation

But, if crunchy, salty treats like potato chips are your preference, then you owe a debt of gratitude to a cranky chef and a picky diner who lived over 150 years ago. On August 24, 1853, George Crum was working as a chef in a restaurant when he became frustrated with a customer. The customer had repeatedly sent back his French fries, complaining that they were too thick and soggy. Fed up, Crum decided to teach him a lesson. Crum sliced the potatoes as thinly as possible and fried them in grease. To Crum's astonishment, the customer thought the chips were delectable. They became a regular item on the restaurant's menu and, in time, became a staple of the global fast food industry.

Clearly not all accidents are bad. Some have made our lives richer, sweeter, and tastier!

After Reading

Answer the questions.

- 1. In your own words, explain how popsicles were invented.

- A. Why do you think a meal might be unforgettable? Could it be for good or bad reasons?
 - 1. Read the text and find out.
 - Why was each meal memorable?
 - Where was each meal served?
 - What were the writer's feelings in each case? Highlight parts in the text that convey feelings/attitude.
 - 2. Would you have felt differently? How would you have reacted in each case?

Too Much Seafood

A few years ago, we were at a famous seafood restaurant. A friend of ours went overboard and proceeded to order almost everything on the menu. Soon, immense amounts of seafood started arriving on large platters. We ended up with a feast that could have fed twenty starving people, not six. It was all delicious but there was too much of it. Three of the group were determined to clear everything, so they continued gobbling down fish, seafood, salad, French fries, anything that was still on the table.

Three hours later, we split an exorbitant check among us and walked back to our hotel, feeling unpleasantly full. As expected, we all got sick. Our extravagant friend, who had eaten most of what he had ordered, was taken to the hospital. The rest of us were given strict orders to only consume liquids and stay in bed for the rest of our stay.

Pepper Sauce and Truffle

I was flying back home from France. I had been given a first class seat because the plane was overbooked and my seat had been given to someone else. I did not, of course, mind the change one bit.

I had been traveling on a very tight student budget, and had been trying to cut down on expenses, so I tended to skip meals guite often. After the plane took off, I realized that I was famished. Appetizing smells wafting my way from the galley did nothing to reduce my hunger. Fortunately, we were served very soon. I tasted the food and was truly amazed. It consisted of the most succulent, tastiest bon filet in pepper sauce that I had ever had. It was served with truffles and baked baby potatoes with herbs. The pepper sauce was delicious as were the truffles. I decided that I rather liked flying first class!

Although I had always looked forward to the big holiday dinner at home, this year I figured I would make do with a sandwich. But then I talked with a few other students who had stayed, and we came up with a plan to whip up our own holiday dinner...

Writing Corner

When writing an essay about a memorable event:

- · brainstorm and picture different events/occasions/scenes.
- make notes about the picture(s) in your mind.
- think about your reader/audience and select information accordingly.
- · check to make sure you would not offend anyone through your account.
- focus on the people, the setting, the events, and feelings as required to highlight the aspect you want to focus on.

Listen and Discuss

- 1. In what ways are animals similar to humans? How are they different?
- 2. Do you think animals and humans can communicate with each other? If so, in what ways?

Punxsutawney Phil is easily the most famous groundhog in the world. Phil lives in the small U.S. town of Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania, and is cared for by the townspeople. However, every February 2nd, Phil is placed in the ground at Gobbler's Knob, where he carries on a tradition that is over 100 years old. Many people believe the length of the winter can be predicted on this day, called Groundhog Day. It is said that on this day when Phil emerges from his hole, if he sees his shadow, there will be six more weeks of winter weather. If Phil does not see his shadow, spring will arrive early. Can the duration of winter really be predicted by a groundhog? Probably not, but the town has a great time celebrating this tradition.

Koko was a famous gorilla who used human sign language. Koko was taught sign language by psychologist Penny Patterson when Koko was just a baby. Patterson was studying whether gorillas could be taught to communicate. Although the study was only supposed to last a couple of years, Patterson and Koko developed a lifelong bond and worked together ever since. Koko began by learning basic words like eat, drink, and more, and eventually learned abstract ideas such as love, jealous, and shame. It is believed that Koko could sign over 1,000 words, and that she understood about 2,000 spoken words. Koko was also famous for having pet kittens. She was always extremely gentle and affectionate with her kittens.

A mouser is a cat that is kept for the purpose of catching mice. In England, there has been a mouser at the Prime Minister's residence for centuries. The most popular of these cats was a stray named Humphrey who, in 1989, was the first cat to receive the official title "Chief Mouser to the Cabinet Office." His care cost 100 pounds and was paid from the department's budget. It was said to be far cheaper than the fees previously paid to exterminators. Humphrey, who was beloved in the UK, retired in 1997.

One day in 1969, John Rendall and Anthony Burke saw a real live lion cub in a London department store window. Feeling that a lion should not be kept this way, they bought him and took him home to live in Rendall's basement. The lion, whom they named Kristyan, is said to have been an affectionate and extremely cooperative cat who even used a giant kitty litter box. Kristyan was pampered. He was brought on drives, strolls through the neighborhood, and even to restaurants. But when Kristyan grew to almost 200 pounds (90 kilograms), it was decided that he should be released into the wild. Kristyan was brought to Africa where he adapted to life in the wild and eventually became the leader of a group of lions. A year later, Rendall and Burke traveled to Africa to say goodbye. They were warned that Kristyan would not remember them. However, when Kristyan saw his old friends, he ran towards them, stood on his back legs, and joyfully gave each of them a long and loving embrace.

Conversation 💷

Sami: I'm interested in speaking to someone about horse training. A friend of mine suggested I come here.

Omar: What kind of problems are you having with your horse?

Sami: He's a beautiful, strong, and affectionate horse, but he's driving me crazy. He won't follow instructions. He will gallop instead of cantering, he won't turn when I need him to, and if he spots a patch of grass, he'll head straight for it and ignore me completely.

Omar: I gather you have a young stallion. I will check the schedule and we can arrange training sessions for you and your horse. Hang in there!

Sami: OK, but in the meantime, I really need some advice. How should I handle him when he disobeys?

Omar: Well, I can try and give you a few tips now. You say he'll head straight for a patch of grass when he sees one. Do you let him do that when you are out riding?

Sami: Well, sometimes. But only if I want to stop for a minute or so.

Omar: You need to set rules and then stick with them 24/7. If you're not consistent, he's not going to learn.

Sami: OK. But when he is all friendly and nice, it's hard not to let him do what he wants.

Omar: Look, I'm going to get to the point. It sounds to me like your horse is calling the shots. You need to be firmer.

If you train your horse not to do something then suddenly let him do it, you'll be back to the drawing board.

11 Amazing Animals

Before Reading

In what ways do people benefit from animal companionship?

Animal Heroes

One night, Pilar was in a deep sleep when she was woken by her cat Inti. Inti was meowing wildly outside Pilar's bedroom and throwing himself against the closed bedroom door. When Pilar opened her eyes, she saw that her bedroom was filling with smoke. As she escaped her house with Inti in her arms, she saw that a fire was blazing in her kitchen. Pilar could easily have lost consciousness from breathing in the smoke, but Inti would not let that happen. Even though Inti could have escaped the house through a cat door, he wouldn't leave Pilar. A fireman at the scene said, "Without question, that cat is responsible for saving his owner's life. He should be honored as a hero."

As amazing as this story is, it is not as uncommon as you may think. There are countless stories of animals coming to the aid of humans in life-threatening situations. Animals are said to have a sixth sense for danger. Often they are alert to danger before humans are and have used this awareness to protect humans from harm.

Take the example of Charlotte Lee and her horse, Thunder. One warm, summer night, the whole family was asleep with the windows open. It was normally very quiet where they lived. There were only a few farm houses scattered about the area and hardly any traffic. All of a sudden, there was a loud crashing noise from the stable. Charlotte woke up with a start, and her heart pounding, as the noise continued. She was so frightened, she froze; no matter how hard she tried she could not move. The noise stopped as suddenly as it had started, and she heard a horse galloping towards the house. The next thing she saw was Thunder standing outside her window, neighing and shaking his head as he stomped on the wooden porch. She knew enough about horses to know that Thunder was disturbed for a reason, and wasted no time speculating. She quickly got everyone out of the house before the earthquake hit. Part of the roof caved in and crashed into her room. Thunder had deliberately saved her life.

Yet it is not only domesticated animals who have acted heroically. There are also stories of wild animals coming to the rescue of humans. One animal known to be a friend and protector of humans is the dolphin. Dolphins are considered to be among the most intelligent of animals. On dozens of occasions, they have used this intelligence to come to the aid of humans in dangerous situations. One such story involves a surfer named Todd Endris. Todd was surfing with his friends when he was attacked by a 13-foot (4-meter) shark. In the middle of the attack, a group of dolphins came to his rescue by forming a protective ring around Endris until he could get safely to shore. Without the help of the dolphins, there is little chance that Todd would have survived.

At times, even animals commonly considered aggressive and dangerous have come to the aid of humans. One famous case involves Binti Jua, an eight-year-old female gorilla who lives at the Brookfield Zoo in Illinois, U.S.A. Binti was celebrated as a hero when she protected a three-year-old boy who fell into the walled gorilla area. Binti picked up the unconscious boy, carefully cradled him in her arms, and brought him to the zookeeper's door so that he could be taken out. After four days in the hospital, the boy recovered completely.

No one is sure why animals have so often come to our aid. However, it is clear evidence of the deep and powerful bond between humans and animals. It is important that we respect this bond by treating animals with the care and compassion that they often show us.

10 Writing 🚺

A. 1. Work in pairs/groups. What do you know about dolphins? What would you like to find out about them?

- 2. Read the text and find out about:
 - · the origin of dolphins
 - types of dolphins and their eating habits
 - the bottlenose dolphin
 - · special abilities dolphins have
 - their relationship with people
- 3. Read the text again and:
 - identify the topic of each paragraph
 - find out if you can re-order paragraphs
 - · decide if you like the way the text begins and ends

All About Dolphins

Dolphins are marine mammals that are claimed to have evolved from land mammals some 50 or 60 million years ago! Studies indicate that they are closely related to hippos, camels, and cows! There has been an unending debate on the exact origin of dolphins and whales that is likely to continue for years to come.

There are 32 types of dolphins that live in salt water. Dolphins eat about 20 to 25 kilos of fish per day. Their eating habits vary depending on the area and the time of year. If there is an abundance of fish, they will happily consume as much as they need. Interestingly, dolphins regulate their food intake according to the fat content of the fish available, and their hunger! In this sense, they can probably control their food intake more efficiently than humans! Did you also know that their brains weigh more than ours?

Dolphins can:

- recognize themselves in a mirror
- · scan objects in the water using sonar
- · sleep with one eye closed
- · whistle and recognize each other by their whistles
- · go to a depth of about 260 meters

There is mutual interest between dolphins and people. They are as interested in observing us as we are in them.

Dolphins love having fun, communicating, and playing. They are also keen on helping and supporting their own kind and other species that are in danger.

The bottlenose dolphin is the most studied and familiar to people, with a life expectancy of about 40 to 50 years. Bottlenose dolphins show an extraordinary connection with humans and have rescued injured divers repeatedly.

These wonderful creatures deserve our admiration and respect and need to be protected.

The Peregrine Falcon

I've always liked falcons. I think their speed, marksmanship, and strength are unmatched. I have particularly admired Peregrines for their speed and hunting skills, but was not sure about their origin and habitat. It wasn't until ${I}$ researched these incredible hunters that ${I}$ discovered they could be found anywhere in the world.

The Peregrine is the world's most widespread bird of prey. The name of the species means "wandering falcon"...

Writing Corner

When you write a descriptive essay about a species:

- · try not to copy the information that you have found as it is; read it, make notes, and rephrase in your own words.
- make the description more attractive for your reader by adding personal feelings and opinions.
- notice that when referring to the animal you may repeat its name, use a pronoun, or a distinguishing feature, e.g. these incredible hunters, or refer to it through its category, e.g. this bird, these creatures, etc.
- select information that is genuinely interesting.

Form, Meaning and Function

Adjectives

Position of Adjectives

Use adjectives to describe nouns. Place adjectives either after the verb be or before a noun.

Dolphins are intelligent. Cats are very independent. Giant pandas may become extinct in the future. Dolphins are intelligent animals. Tigers are very independent animals. Giant pandas are an endangered species.

Note: We use become to describe a changing situation.

Adjectives from Verbs and Nouns

A lot of adjectives are formed from verbs and nouns. Many adjectives are formed by adding the following suffixes: -y, -ful, -less, -ate, -al, -ive, -ous, -ic, -ed or -ing.

(noun)	Health is very important.	(noun)	Please take care when feeding the animals.
(adjective)	Keeping pets healthy is very important.	(adjective)	Please be careful .
(noun)	You won't get much use out of that bag.	(noun)	Young children have a lot of energy .
(adjective)	That bag is useless .	(adjective)	Young children are very energetic .
(noun)	The tall buildings in Dubai made a big	(adjective)	The tourists found the tall buildings in Dubai impression on the tourists.		very impressive .
(adjective)	I felt impressed when I saw the very	(verb)	Photos of Dubai impress many people.
	tall hotel.

A. Read the sentences and write the correct form of the adjective from the word(s) given in parentheses.

1.	One day in 1969, John Rendall and Anthony Burke saw a real live lion cub in a London department store window. (life)
2.	The lion is said to have been an and extremely cat. (affection, cooperation)
3.	When Kristyan saw his old friends, he ran towards them, stood on his back legs, andgave each of them a long and embrace. (joy, love)
4.	Punxsutawney Phil is easily the most groundhog in the world. (fame)
5.	Elephants in captivity should be given pedicures to keep their feet (health)
6.	He's a and strong horse. (beauty)
7 .	Ali owns a veryyoung horse. (energy)
8.	Many true stories demonstrate that horses are human companions. (loyalty)

B. Choose an animal to research and talk about. Find out about its origins, diet, appearance and characteristics. Make comparisons between your animal and other animals or breeds. Tell your partner about your animal.

Use all, both, neither and none to compare two or more things, places, animals or people.

All tigers, cheetahs, leopards, and lions are big cats.

Both cheetahs and leopards are fast animals.

Neither tigers nor lions can be domesticated.

None of the big cats can be domesticated. They are all wild animals.

Both... and... / Neither... nor... / Either... or...

Both...and, neither...nor, and either...or are all paired conjunctions. They are used to link two words, phrases, or clauses of the same type. For example, nouns are linked with nouns, adjectives are linked with adjectives, and verbs are linked with verbs.

My favorite animal is either an elephant or a camel.

Both camels and elephants are intelligent animals.

When connecting two subjects with both...and, be sure to use a plural verb.

Both my father and his boss were present at the meeting.

When connecting two subjects using either...or, or neither...nor, the choice to use a singular or plural verb depends on the subject that is closer to the verb.

Amazing Animals

Project 2

You have been asked to select some animals for a zoo in Saudi Arabia.

- 1. Work in pairs/groups. Research and find out about animals that live in the Arabian Peninsula.
- 2. Make notes in the chart about the animals and select pictures. Find out about:
 - their natural habitat (where they normally live)
 - · their eating habits
 - · their enemies and friends
 - · their origin
- 3. Prepare a poster presentation for your class
- 4. Display the posters on the wall for your classmates to read after you have presented them.

- 1. What do you think the words moral and ethical mean?
- 2. Have you ever been tempted to do something that wasn't right? Explain.
- 3. Do you think in every situation there is always a clear right and wrong thing to do?

Russ is at the airport to catch a flight. He is on his way to his brother's wedding. His flight is about to leave. As he runs through the terminal to his departure gate, an elderly man suddenly slips and falls in front of him. The man cries out in pain. Russ knows that if he stopped to help the man, he would miss his flight. If he missed his flight, he would miss his brother's wedding. Russ runs past the man as if he hadn't seen him.

Would you have done what Russ did?

Dilemma

A ship strikes an iceberg and ten passengers crowd into a lifeboat that is only intended to hold nine. The lifeboat slowly starts to sink because of the extra weight. If it does, all ten passengers will die in the freezing water. The captain considers his choices and decides to force the weakest individual out of the lifeboat. He reasons that if he did nothing, everyone would drown. This way only one person drowns, and this person would have drowned anyway. Others on the lifeboat feel that this choice is morally wrong. They say that if he did nothing, then even if none of them survived, at least no one would be responsible for anyone's death.

If you were the captain, what would you do?

Dilemma

Mariana has struggled in science class for years. This year, to help motivate her, Mariana's parents have told her that if she receives a B on her report card, they will help her buy a cell phone. But Mariana has done poorly in the class and knows that her final grade will be a D. The day her report card is due to arrive in the mail, Mariana arrives home from school and is greeted by her parents with hugs and smiles. She takes a look at the report card and sees that her grade in science is an A. Clearly this is a mistake, but Mariana can get away with it if she doesn't say anything. The cell phone is only part of the reason that she's tempted not to say anything. She also dreads the idea of seeing the pride on her parents' faces vanish.

What would you do if you were Mariana?

Present Hypothetical Conditionals versus Past Hypothetical Conditionals

We use present hypothetical conditionals to talk about imaginary situations. The simple past tense is used in the if-clause. Would, could, or might is used in the result clause.

If you asked me my opinion, I would tell you the truth.

If we knew where she lived, we could send her flowers.

We use past hypothetical conditionals to talk about things that did not happen in the past. They are often used to express regret or criticism. The past perfect is used in the if-clause. Would have, could have, or might have is used in the result clause.

If I had tutored him, he might have passed the test.

(But I didn't tutor him, so he didn't pass the test.)

If Audra had been honest, she would not have gotten into trouble.

(But Audra didn't tell the truth, so she did get into trouble.)

Implied Conditionals

Sometimes the if-clause is implied rather than stated directly.

We would have helped you. (if you had asked us)

I would have called the police. (if I had been there)

What would I do without you? (if you weren't here)

As If / As Though for Unreal Situations

We can use as if and as though + a past or past perfect verb to suggest that something is unreal or untrue.

He talks as if he were an expert in the field.

They act as though they had not cheated on the test.

Note: Either was or were can be used with the subjects I, he, she, or it. However, were is considered more formal and generally used in writing.

- Rewrite each sentence as a conditional.
- My sister doesn't know what happened, so she's not mad at me. If my sister knew what happened, she would be mad at me.
 - 1. Ibrahim doesn't take good care of himself. That is why he gets sick so often.
 - 2. He had an accident because he wasn't driving carefully enough.
 - 3. I took the course because I didn't know how hard it would be.
 - 4. He isn't my son, so I can't tell him what to do.
 - 5. I'd like to help the poor, but I have no extra money.
- . You don't pay attention in class, so you don't understand the lessons.
 - 7. Aisha didn't tell her parents about the problem, so they couldn't help her.
 - 8. We didn't have time, so we didn't visit him in the hospital.

Ali uses his friend's computer and accidentally deletes an important file. He decides not to tell his friend.

What would you have done?

I would have told my friend the truth.

Khaled: Can I talk to you about a problem I'm struggling with?

Majid: Sure. What's going on?

Khaled: Well, I've been working at a clothing store in the mall for a month now. Last week, I saw a guy I work with stuffing a shirt into his bag. When I asked him about it, he acted all innocent. Then this week, I caught him taking a pair of pants. This time he promised he wouldn't steal anything again and begged me not to tell the manager.

Majid: So what are you going to do?

Khaled: That's the problem, I don't know. If I told the manager, he would get fired.

Majid: Yeah, but now that you know about it, if you don't tell the manager, you'll be helping him get away with stealing. He's put you in a rotten position.

Khaled: I know. What do you think I should do?

Majid: The way I see it, if he's stolen twice before, he's likely to steal again. You can't trust him. Do you think he might even steal from the cash register?

Khaled: I wouldn't put it past him.

Majid: It seems to me that you may get yourself in trouble if you don't blow the whistle on him. Of course, it's your call, but if I were you, I would let the manager know.

Khaled: Yeah. You're probably right.

8 Reading

Before Reading

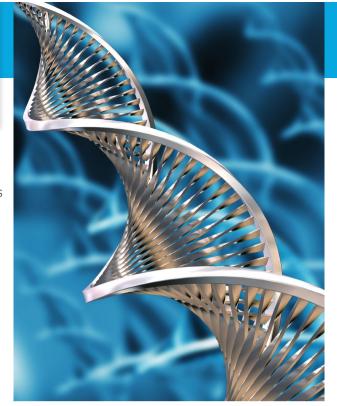

Read the article and underline all the potential diseases that can be identified using genetic testing.

Peeking into Our Medical Future

Did you know that a drop of your blood can predict diseases you may develop in the future? This is possible through genetic testing—testing that analyzes the genetic information found in the cells of your body. Each cell contains a sample of DNA. The information in DNA can help determine a person's risk of developing certain diseases years from now.

The most common type of genetic testing is called "newborn screening." The goal of newborn screening is to identify treatable genetic disorders in newborn babies. In many countries, infants are screened in the hospital shortly after they are born. Although it is rare to find that a baby has a genetic disorder, those that do have a disorder start receiving treatment right away. This early diagnosis and treatment prevents physical and mental problems, and sometimes even death.

Another type of genetic testing is called "predictive gene testing." This is used to predict an adult's risk of developing certain diseases later in life. People who undergo this type of genetic testing are usually from a family in which many members have had a particular inherited disease, like certain cancers or Alzheimer's disease.

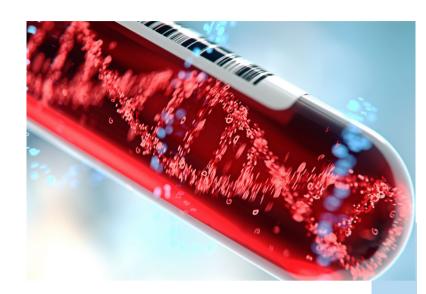

There are many obvious benefits to this kind of testing. A negative test (a test that says a person is not likely to develop a disorder) can bring a tremendous sense of relief. Jen Thomson, who recently underwent predictive gene testing for colon cancer, explains, "So many people in my family died of colon cancer, I worried constantly. When the test came back negative, I felt as if someone had lifted an enormous weight off my shoulders." A positive test has benefits as well. It warns of the need for preventative care, like frequent checkups, dietary changes, medicines, or even the option of surgically removing the part likely to develop the disease. For example, if Thomson's test had been positive, she might have chosen to have her colon removed.

There are also some controversial downsides to genetic testing. The value of genetic testing is particularly questionable when testing for a disease that is untreatable. For example, Alzheimer's disease runs in An Lee's family. An has decided to get genetic testing to see if she is likely to develop it. Her husband Bao is not happy about her choice. Bao explains, "If the result is positive, how will it help to know that she will probably develop the disease?

If I had the Alzheimer's gene, I wouldn't want to know." Another issue is that even if someone tests positive for a disease, it doesn't mean that they will definitely develop the disease. So a person could spend years worrying about something that never ends up happening.

Genetic testing has the potential to impact millions of lives in the future. Many are excited about the future of genetics, while others have deep concerns about it. But for better or for worse, soon we may all have the ability to peek into our medical future.

Answer true or false.

- 1. _____ To get a sample of DNA, doctors must draw a large quantity of blood.
- 2. _____ Newborn screening is not a common type of genetic testing.
- 3. Predictive gene testing can be done for treatable and untreatable disorders.
- 4. _____ A positive test generally brings great relief to the test-taker.
- 5. _____ If someone tests positive for a disease, they will definitely develop the disease.

 - Are all the events presented in chronological order?
 How do you know?
 - Which sentences/phrases/words provide information about the writer's thoughts, attitude, and feelings?
 - Which part reveals the writer's position on the matter?
 - Are there sections/phrases/sentences that address a longer period of time in real terms but very briefly?
 - Are there sections/phrases/sentences that address a shorter period of time in real terms but in greater detail?

I took a number of courses in typing, shorthand, French, art, design, and literature and worked part-time as a public relations assistant, a shop assistant, etc. Eventually, I started studying psychology, philosophy, and linguistics. I had also managed to attend a teaching methodology course that qualified me as a language teacher, but I was not at all certain that I wanted a teaching career.

At some point, I was approached by a new airline company that invited me to do an interview, followed by a test before I could be offered a job. At the time, I used to help out with registration at a large language center where my uncle taught. So, I agreed to spend the next few days working for them from morning till evening, totally forgetting the airline company. Two days later, the man I knew from the airline company turned up and accused me of being irresponsible because I had not bothered to check with the airline company on the final results and a job offer. He said there was still time to do it, but I would have to drop what I was doing and run. For some reason, I did exactly the opposite; I stayed put, thanked him and went back to work.

Later that evening, I was offered my first teaching job by the director of studies. I have often wondered what my life would have been like if I had chosen the airline company instead, but not too enthusiastically. Regardless of difficulties and ups and downs, this is the choice that has become a life's choice and no amount of wondering is likely to ever make me regret it.

- B. 1. Think of an important decision you or a family member has made.
 - 2. Compare what your life is like now to what it would have been like if you or a family member had made a different decision. Use the chart to organize your ideas.
 - 3. Write a personal narrative on this subject.

Writing Corner

When you write a reflective and speculative personal narrative, think about the following:

- what has already happened
- what opportunities were available and what results have taken place
- · what feelings and attitudes you have experienced
- which people were involved directly or indirectly
- how to present your ideas so you can set the context clearly for your reader

Then refer to the real context and:

- reflect and/or evaluate the decision/choice you made.
- wonder/speculate how things might have been different.
- address the question to your reader.
- express satisfaction or regret about your decision/choice.

Questions (?)

Short Answers (+)

Short Answers (–)

Will you be working on the weekend?

Yes, I will.

No, I won't.

Future Perfect

The future perfect is used to express the idea that an action will be completed in the future, before another event or before another specific time in the future. The future perfect is formed with will have + past participle.

By this time tomorrow, we will have had the medical test results back.

Time Expressions for the Future

A week from today, I'll be working in my new job.

By the year 2030, we will all have undergone genetic testing at birth.

By the time I am elderly, smart robots will have become commonplace.

- A. Use the future progressive or the future perfect to complete each sentence. In some cases, both forms are possible.
 - Sheri started teaching biology in 2020. By 2030, she will have been teaching biology for ten years.
 - 1. My parents got married in 2000. By 2032,
 - 2. My brother became a vegetarian three weeks ago. By next week,

- B. Use the future perfect to combine the future events into one sentence, using by or by the time. Write the sentences in your notebook.

1st Event: He will graduate from college. 2nd Event: 2033 will come. By 2033, he will have graduated from college.

1. 1st Event: The football game will start.

2. 1st Event: I will fall asleep.

3. 1st Event: I will pass my law exams.

4. 1st Event: My father will work as a medical doctor for 20 years.

2nd Event: We will arrive at the stadium.

2nd Event: This TV show will be over.

2nd Event: 2029 will come.

2nd Event: He will retire.

Used To versus Be Used To

Used to + the base form of a verb is used to talk about an action that was repeated habitually in the past but no longer happens now; and to describe a past situation which is no longer true.

Tom didn't use to cheat on school tests. He used to be an honest person. He used to study hard. He used to be a good student.

Note: For the negative, use didn't use to (omit the -d).

Be used to + gerund or noun is used to talk about something that has become familiar or habitual.

Some people think it's crazy that he works seven days a week. But he is used to it. Although she is a millionaire now, she isn't used to shopping in expensive stores.

Note: For the negative, use be + not + use d to (do not omit the -d).

Was/Were Going To (Future in the Past)

Was/Were + going to + the base form of a verb is used to talk about a prediction for the future made in the past, or a past plan that was not carried out.

When he saw the old man fall, Russ wasn't going to stop. He was going to keep running to catch his flight. Russ realized this was wrong, so he stopped and helped the old man.

2 Reading

Before Reading

- 1. Do you think it is possible to move objects with your mind? Explain.
- 2. How do you think technology could help make this possible?

Mind Over Matter

Imagine yourself sitting on the couch, exhausted after a long day, wishing you had the TV remote control.

Wouldn't it be great if, instead of getting up to pick it up from the coffee table, you could use your mind to turn the TV on and flip through the channels? This idea may sound like science fiction, but it may not be as far-fetched as it sounds.

The ability to move objects with the mind is known as telekinesis. It has long been speculated that people use only a small portion of their brains. It is said that if we used the full potential of our brain, we would discover that it has amazing abilities, including the ability to move objects without touching them.

One person famous for her alleged ability to use her brain this way was Nina Kulagina. Kulagina, a Russian housewife born in 1927, caused a sensation in the 1960s and 70s with her alleged mental powers. Kulagina demonstrated her ability in a number of experiments, many of which were filmed. In one experiment, she separated the yolk and the white of an egg dropped into a tank of water. In her most incredible experiment, Kulagina used her mind to slow a frog's heartbeat until it stopped completely.

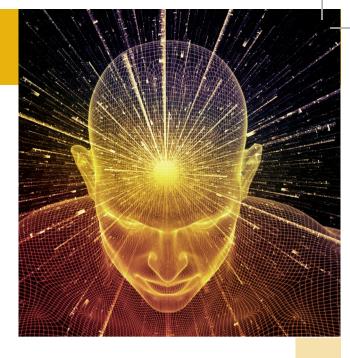

Many in the scientific community are skeptical about whether Kulagina's powers were real or just a trick. However, many of these same people believe it is entirely possible for the brain to move an object—with the help of technology. For decades, scientists have been working on finding a way to make it possible for disabled people who do not have use of their hands to control devices with the brain. Recently, great progress has been made in this effort.

In 2004, a paralyzed 25-year-old man named Matthew Nagle became the first person to benefit from such technology. Nagle had a chip that could read his mind implanted in his brain. Wires connected to both the chip and a computer fed the information from the chip into the computer. The computer analyzed this information, and converted it into computer commands. The computer then sent these commands to various devices in Nagle's home.

مرارة التعليم Ministry 98 ducation As a result, Nagle was able to do things like turn the lights in his home on and off, and open email, just by thinking about doing these things. The hope is that one day this technology will make it possible for people like Nagle to regain the use of their arms and leas.

Recent research has focused on making this technology simpler by replacing the computer chip with a cap. Brain waves can be picked up by the cap and sent to a computer, which then carries out the commands. The advantage of this approach is that the cap is wireless and does not require surgery. However, further research is needed to make this wireless technology as effective as the brain chip.

While this technology has the possibility of dramatically improving the lives of disabled people, there are also many less dramatic, commercial uses for it. For example, one company is developing a remote control that can be controlled with thoughts. So the next time you are feeling too lazy to get off the couch to get the remote control, take heart—soon you may indeed be able to stay on the couch and turn on your TV without lifting a finger!

After Reading

- B.
 - 1. What is telekinesis?
 - 2. Who was Nina Kulagina?
 - 3. How can technology make it possible for the mind to move objects?
 - 4. What surgery did Michael Nagle undergo?
 - 5. How did the surgery change Nagle's life?

Discussion

- 1. Do you think the technology described in the reading will ever become common? Why or why not?
- 2. Think of and describe other ways this technology could be used.

Writing Prompt

Write an essay about a new kind of technology. It can be a technology that is already in use or that will be used in the future. Explain the technology and tell the reader whether you think it is a good thing or not, and why.

Write Your Essay

- 1. Decide what technology you want to write about.
- 2. Use two or three sources from the library or Internet to find information about the technology. Use a note-taking chart to keep track of your sources and the information you find in each.

Source	Notes

- 3. Write a draft of your essay.
- 4. Have a partner read and comment on your draft. Use your partner's comments and suggestions to revise your essay. Include a list of the sources you used in your final draft.

Developing Your Writing: Taking Notes and Citing Sources

Take notes on key facts and note the source of the information. It is important to put the information in your own words, rather than simply copying text word for word from your source. Copying the words of another writer and using them as your own is called plagiarism.

Include a list of your sources at the end of your essay. If the source is a book, write the name of the author, the title of the book, the city and name of the publisher, and the year it was published. If the source is a Web page, write the name of the author (if known), the website title, the title of the article, the date you found the page, and the URL of the page.

Messaging Apps

Messaging apps (MAs) are software programs that can be downloaded and installed on smartphones. Smartphones are not just cell phones, they are advanced devices that combine many useful features and functions. MAs enable fast and direct communication between two or more parties over the Internet. The use of MAs started in the early 2010s and has been increasing tremendously ever since. Like all other communication platforms, MAs have both advantages and disadvantages.

Probably the main benefit of communicating by messaging apps is that it seems most like a face-to-face or telephone conversation because it happens in real time. Discussions that could take days over email can happen in a matter of minutes through MAs. The use of MAs provides more opportunities for clarification of ideas, thus resulting in less miscommunication. Another

- Never tell your real name, location, or telephone number.
- Do not put your screen name on public lists or directories. Also, do not give it to strangers.
- Never provide sensitive personal information such as your credit card numbers or passwords in a conversation via a MA.
- Only communicate with people who are on your contact or buddy lists.
- · Never open pictures, download files, or click links in messages from people you don't know.
- If you use a public computer, do not choose to log on automatically. People who use that computer after you may be able to see and use your screen name to log on.

- Rewrite the text messages using abbreviations. Remember to find the shortest way of representing the way they sound. 1. Where are you? Will you be over soon? 2. He is not going to meet us. He's busy. 3. Who's giving you all the information? 4. Of course, I'll do it for you. You've helped me so many times. 5. Check the store on the corner. It's cheaper. Write if you would call or text message in each situation and give a reason. 1. You're in a very busy store. You want to ask your friend if he/she likes a particular color. 2. You know your father is at the station waiting. You want to let him know that you will be arriving in about 20 minutes. 3. You are in the library looking for a science book, but you have forgotten which volume you need for class. You want to ask your classmate. 4. You had an unnecessary argument with your cousin. You feel responsible and want to apologize.
 - 5. You know your brother is on his way home from work. You are at a halfway point and you want to catch him before he goes past it so he can give you a lift.

H READING

Read the two stories. Then answer the questions.

America's Dumbest Criminals

CALIFORNIA, USA—A man, who was in serious financial trouble after having been fired because of inadequate reading and writing skills, decided that robbing a bank would be the solution to all of his problems. He chose the Bank of America in downtown San Francisco as his target. He was walking into the branch when he realized he had not written his stick-up note. He decided to go through with it anyway and got a deposit slip from the bank and wrote his note: "This iz a stickup. Put all your muny in this bag."

While standing in line to give his note to the teller, he began to worry that someone had seen him write the note and might call the police. He decided to leave the Bank of America and try another bank. He crossed the street to the Wells Fargo bank. After waiting a few minutes in line, he handed his note to the Wells Fargo teller.

The teller read the note and, judging from the spelling errors, realized that the robber was not very bright. He told him that he could not accept his stick-up note since it had been written on a Bank of America deposit slip. He explained that he could only accept the note if it were written on a Wells Fargo slip and that he would either have to fill in one of their slips or go back to the Bank of America.

Looking somewhat confused, but taking the teller's word for it, the man decided to leave the bank. The Wells Fargo teller then called the police who arrested the man a few minutes later while he was waiting in line back at the Bank of America.

COLORADO, USA—A man walked into a corner store in Colorado Springs with a gun and demanded all of the cash from the cash register. After the cashier had put the cash in a bag, the robber saw a pack of cigarettes that he wanted behind the counter on the shelf. He told the cashier to put it in the bag along with the cash. The cashier refused, saying that the man wasn't over twenty-one.

The robber insisted that he was in fact older than twenty-one, but the cashier stood his ground and refused to give it to him unless he showed official identification stating his age. The robber took his driver's license out of his wallet and gave it to the cashier. After a couple of minutes, the clerk agreed that the man was indeed over twenty-one and put the pack of cigarettes in the bag.

As the robber ran from the store, the cashier immediately called the police and gave the name and address he had seen on the license. The police arrested the robber two hours later while he was sitting in his living room smoking a cigarette.

24/4/25 10:11 PM

Reorder the sentences to create the story of a silly burglary. Then answer the question.
He was wearing a jacket that belonged to the man of the house, and his pockets were full of jewelry and candies that he had taken.
Outside the house, a bag was found with more items that had been stolen from the house.
When the police came they found the burglar asleep on the couch.
When he was interviewed by the police, he claimed that he had bought the candies but eventually admitted to having taken them from the house.
At the time the burglar had just been released from a two-year prison sentence for burglary.
The owners of the house had locked all doors and windows before going to sleep the night before.
But when they woke up early the next morning, they heard noises coming from the living room.
Instead of checking the living room, they tiptoed into the kitchen and called the police.
On his way to the patrol car, the burglar apologized to the owners for falling asleep on their couch.
He explained that he had been playing basketball all day and had got very tired!
What would you have done if you had found a burglar asleep in your living room?

Look at the picture. Take notes on the people, things, and actions that are happening. Then write sentences that tell what is happening and why it is happening.

READING

Read and answer the questions.

The Maho Bay Camps St. John, U.S. Virgin Islands

The Maho Bay Camps in St. John in the U.S. Virgin Islands is one of the oldest and most acclaimed green hotels in the world. The first of the eco-tents were built in 1976 using hand construction methods that left the local ecosystem undisturbed. Each of the 18 original tents was constructed on raised platforms that are connected by elevated walkways. Today there are 114 units at the Maho Bay Camps, but because of these construction methods, the sand and coral remains mostly intact.

In addition to the elevated construction, there are other eco-friendly design features. For example, the camps use rain collection and passive solar architecture. Also, the bathrooms have low-flush toilets and pull-chain showers, so that people use less water. Additionally, the run-off water is connected to a recycling system that is designed to water the plants in the area. Due to the popularity of the Maho Bay Camps, the owner has recently built another facility on the other side of the island. These tents have the latest in sustainable design, including solar energy. They also have more impressive views of the ocean.

Admittedly, staying at the camps feels more like a rustic summer camp than a beach resort, but that is much of its charm. The "tents" are actually wooden cottages with fabric tops. They each have separate sleeping areas and open-air balconies. Some of them have views of the ocean, but unfortunately, most of them don't because of the lush foliage and trees. However, the trees provide a lot of privacy, so they have benefits too. The wooden walkways that connect the tents have so many steps that they recommend that you only stay there if you are physically able to get around. There are shared public bathrooms and guests need to use the walkways to get to them. Every tent has electricity and fans.

Although the camps are rustic, the cost is still expensive because, unfortunately, ecotourism costs more to sustain than a typical resort. Guests will find that they are paying similar prices to typical resorts, but they can rest assured that they are able to enjoy the beauty of nature and outdoors without simultaneously damaging it.

١.	Why don't the tents disturb the local ecosystem?
2.	What are two of the eco-friendly design features mentioned?
3.	Why shouldn't people stay there if they aren't physically fit?
1.	Why is it expensive to stay at the Maho Bay Camps?

Mountain Climbing

Climbing up mountains is a wonderful way to discover the biodiversity and uniqueness of the landscape. There are easier walks and more challenging peaks.

Rock Climbing

Rock climbing as a sport is relatively new in Malaysia, so there are many potential climbing venues to be explored.

Jungle Trekking

Jungle trekking can take a few hours or days if you choose to camp. Among the best periods to go trekking is in the 'dry season' from March to September when the rainfall is less.

Bird Watching

Malaysia's diverse ecosystem supports hundreds of resident bird species. All in all, with a total of about 1,200 species, Malaysia is considered a bird watching haven.

Cave Exploration

Caving has a lot of fans in Malaysia. There are numerous limestone caves that are home to amazing wildlife such as fruit bats, birds with edible nests, or attractive stalagmites and stalactites.

River Cruising

A river cruise is an escape to another world.

You can sail quietly under overhanging trees, hear the call of birds, and observe at leisure life

Four Wheel Drive Expeditions

With over half the country still under jungle cover, Malaysia's natural landscape challenges man and machine in a test of skill and endurance. A quiet stop to view the wildlife and the waterfalls makes it all worthwhile.

READING

What do you think of TV game shows? Read the people's opinions and complete the chart.

Ahmed Othman Psychologist 50 years old

I believe that game shows are bad for contestants. They are put in stressful situations and forced to be different on stage from what they really are. Many of them are in the process of making life decisions about jobs, careers, or marriage and participate in order to secure their finances; in other words, to win the prize. But they are forced to do their best on camera and in a certain time frame. Of course, it's tempting because of the fame and money that they will get if they win. But just because some of these shows are popular doesn't make them a good thing. People don't know what's best for them and can't recognize danger when there is fame and fortune involved. I prefer to watch good films, documentaries, panel discussions, interviews, and so on. TV can have so many benefits for the brain when it's interesting and entertaining.

Hameed Mutaweh Electronic Game Designer 25 years old

As a game designer, I am against TV games in principle because they sometimes influence people's taste and have a negative impact on our work. So much air time is used for game shows, and then more to interview contestants and afterwards some more to interview winners and losers, etc. It is as if we had all run out of other subject matter. What about the news? What about the world, the environment, scientific research, different countries and cultures, art? There is so much more we could be watching and learning about. Instead, we waste time watching individuals or groups competing against one another, often in an unpleasant manner, in order to win. I think game shows bring out the worst in people and are a waste of air time and brain time. My favorite thing to watch on TV is a good mystery show. I enjoy the special effects, the plots, and the suspense. Then again, those are some of the reasons that I have become a game designer I guess.

Dave Williams Computer programmer 30 years old

Personally, I think game shows are stupid. I like to be informed when I'm watching TV, and game shows are not informative at all. I find them boring and predictable. You can tell very quickly who the winners and who the losers will be. They're supposed to promote real skills and positive competition but they don't. All contestants are there to win for themselves at any cost. It's simply not realistic to expect them to work effectively in teams. Also, they know they are on camera when they discuss problems and search for options, so they don't behave naturally. They want to make a good impression. I'm not sure they compete on equal grounds either. Who says the whole thing is not arranged early on? Anyway, my favorite thing to watch on TV is the news. That's all!

What Makes People Successful?

Who do you think is the most successful person you know? Who do you think is the least successful?

In order to answer these questions, we first need to define success. Everyone has a different definition of what makes someone successful or not. Many of us place great value on performance, on achievements, or on reaching various goals. Others associate success with material goods, measuring it by how much one can acquire. Others measure success by how much they can contribute to the well-being of their families, or to the community and society in general. There are many other definitions, but arguably, most people associate it with becoming rich, famous, and respected at work. Yet, it doesn't have to be that way. Being successful could mean simply being satisfied with oneself and one's career. For many people, a successful person is someone who feels that his or her work and life in general offer an exceptionally high degree of satisfaction.

But how does one get from here to there? How does one reach this feeling of satisfaction with life and career? It seems that successful people consistently do two things:

- They use their natural abilities in their work.
- They set career and life goals.

In other words, successful people choose careers where they can use their natural abilities, or do what comes naturally to them. For example, successful teachers are people who instinctively know how to help people learn, and the best doctors are those who know how to listen to people. Successful people know where they are starting from, and what direction they want to give their lives and careers, even if it is something as simple and wonderful as raising a happy family.

What are your natural abilities? What are your career and life goals? If you can answer these questions, you are on your way to achieving success.

- 1. _____ There is a general consensus on the definition of success.
- 2. _____ A lot of people think that you are successful if you are rich and famous.
- 3. _____ Successful people choose careers that match their skills.
- 4. _____ Successful people don't plan their lives.
- 5. _____ Doing what comes naturally to you helps make you successful.
- 6. Raising a happy family is not enough to be considered successful.

Going Green 6

Read the letter. Circle the gerunds.

Dear Editor,

I am writing because I have a concern about our community and our environment. I have been living in this town for three years now. I love (living) here because most people are interested in protecting the environment. However, I have noticed that when I go shopping, most people have been using the plastic bags that the store provides. I quit using those years ago because they are damaging our planet. I can't stand seeing people who say they care about the environment using them. I recommend buying three or four canvas bags at the store and using them every time you go shopping. I advise keeping them in the car or near your front door so that you remember to take them when you go to the store. By making small changes, I think we can make a big difference to our world.

Thank you,

Bagging Betty

Buying Locally Grown

Eating organic fruits and vegetables is one way to help our planet since it does not involve spraying harmful pesticides and herbicides into the environment. However, there are many people who say that eating organic isn't enough, and that it's more important to eat locally grown fruits and vegetables. The organic produce that you find in your grocery store is often shipped halfway around the world. This means that it is both creating air pollution, and that it's a few days old by the time it gets to the store. Locally grown produce is better because it does not contribute to pollution. Also it's the freshest possible, so you get the full amount of its vitamins and nutrients.

Community Supported Agriculture (CSA):

One way to get locally grown produce is to become a member of a Community Supported Agriculture (CSA), A CSA is of a group of individual people who promise to support a farm. This way, the farmland becomes the community's farm, with both the farmers and the consumers sharing benefits and risks. Community Supported Agriculture began in the early 1960s in Europe and Japan as an answer to concerns about food safety and the urbanization of farm land. Over the last 20 years in the U.S., CSAs have become a popular way for people to buy local, seasonal food directly from a farmer.

How a CSA works:

A farmer offers a certain number of "shares" to the public. The share is usually made up of a bag of vegetables. People who are interested in becoming members buy a share before the farming season begins. Then, once the season begins, they get a box of seasonal produce each week throughout the farming season (usually about 20 weeks long). This arrangement creates many advantages for the farmers and the consumers.

Advantages for farmers

- They get to spend time selling the food early in the year when they aren't as busy.
- They get paid early in the season, which helps with the farm's cash flow.
- They have an opportunity to get to know the people who eat the food they grow.

Advantages for consumers

- They get to eat the freshest produce possible.
- They get to learn about new vegetables and new ways of cooking.
- · They get to know the farmer who grows their food and learn more about how food is grown.
- They are contributing to the locally grown movement, thus not creating more pollution by having food shipped.

Dates or chocolate?

Imported European chocolates have become part of the culture when it comes to celebrations. During Eid-al-Fitr, stores stock extra chocolates. For this reason, large amounts of chocolate are imported to meet the demand. For some, chocolates are a symbol of affection and care, and totally in keeping with the spirit of Eid.

Dates are naturally in demand all year long and more so during Ramadan. Dates, like chocolates, are available in different varieties. Nowadays, dates are stuffed with toffee and dried fruit, almonds, pistachios and walnuts, or dipped in chocolate!

Chocolates are available in countless varieties and forms - dark, light, white, bitter, semi-sweet, sweet; with wafers, caramel or fruit; in powder or syrup form; in different sizes and shapes; some wrapped in foil or cellophane or tiny boxes; and others arranged in elaborate boxes that contain an assortment of chocolates.

Elaborate arrangements of chocolate have become the trend for gifts, gaining more ground by the day. The busiest time for confectioners in the Kingdom is the post- Ramadan period when numerous orders for chocolate arrangements have to be filled, costing anywhere from 4 200 to 4 2,000 or more.

1.	Why is chocolate imported in large amounts?
2.	What varieties are available?
3.	When is the busiest time of year for confectioners? Why?

READING

Read the article about the White House. Then answer true or false.

The White House is the official residence and main workplace of the President of the United States. It is in Washington, D.C., and was built between 1792 and 1800. The White House has four stories—the Ground Floor, State Floor, Second Floor, and Third Floor, plus a two-story basement. Today, the White House Complex includes the Executive Residence (where the president and his family live), the West Wing (the location of the Oval Office), the East Wing, and the Old Executive Office Building, which houses the executive offices of the President and Vice President.

There are many famous rooms in the White House. The Entrance Hall is the primary and formal entrance. It is located on the State Floor, and is entered from Pennsylvania Avenue. It opens to the Grand Staircase, which connects the State Floor to the Second Floor of the building. There are three state parlors on the State Floor of the White House: The Green Room, The Blue Room, and the Red Room. They are each decorated in shades of their respective color and have been used for small receptions, and teas.

The East Room is the largest room in the White House. It is used for entertainment, press conferences, ceremonies, and occasionally for a large dinner. The White House's oldest possession, a portrait of George Washington that was painted in 1797, hangs in the East Room next to a portrait of his wife, Martha Washington, which was painted in 1878.

The State Dining Room is the larger of two dining rooms on the State Floor of the White House. It is used for receptions, luncheons, and larger formal dinners. The room seats 140 guests. The Family Dining Room is also located on the State Floor. The room is used for smaller and more private meals than those served in the State Dining Room. Today the president uses the Family Dining Room less for family and more for working lunches and small dinners. Family dinners are usually served on the second floor in the President's Dining Room.

1	true	The U.S. President lives and works at the White House.
1.		The White House was built 100 years ago.
2.		The Oval Office is in the West Wing.
3.		You can only enter the White House through the Entrance Hall.
4.		The Green Room is decorated in green.
5.		The portrait of Martha Washington was probably painted after she had died.
6.		The president's family usually eats dinner in the Family Dining Room.

Minaret of Jam, Afghanistan

The Minaret of Jam stands in a remote valley, surrounded by barren mountains. It was built in the 12th century and it is the only well-preserved building of the period. It is 65 meters tall and was built with baked-bricks. The circular minaret, which rests on an octagonal base, had two wooden balconies and a lantern at the top.

The minaret is famous for its intricate decoration of calligraphy etched in stucco and glazed turquoise ceramics. It was nominated Afghanistan's first World Heritage Site in 2002.

Salwa Palace, KSA

Salwa Palace is the largest palace in the historical at-Turaif district of ad-Dir'iyah. It was the first palace built by Imam Abdulaziz bin Muhammad bin Saud in 1766. His successors later added to the complex, which includes 7 main units, a mosque, an audience hall, a treasury, and a well, which cover some 10,000 m².

Salwa Palace is a unique example of Najdi architecture and illustrates the ingenious use of adobe, not only as a material suited for the extreme desert climate, but as a means to create beautiful geometric designs. At-Turaif was inscribed on the World Heritage List in 2010. It has been restored to a large extent, and it has the potential to become one of the biggest living heritage museums in the world.

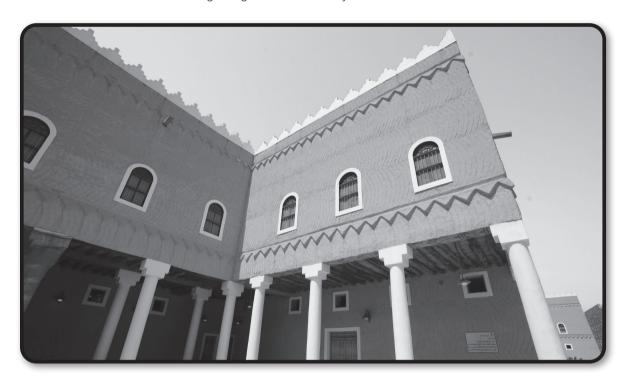

Burj Khalifa, UAE

Burj Khalifa in Dubai, at 828 meters, is the tallest building in the world, topping the previous record holder, Taipei 101, by 319 meters. It is also called "the Needle" because of its top section that gets as thin as a needle as it tapers to the top.

The building took six years to complete and was officially opened in January 2010. It has 168 floors, which is the highest number in the world, but not all of them are large enough to use as residence or office space. The skyscraper accommodates more than 900 luxury apartments, 49 floors of offices, and a 7-star Armani Hotel with 160 rooms.

1.	what is the shape of the Minaret of Jam?
2.	What is special about the use of adobe at Salwa Palace?
3.	How tall is Burj Khalifa, and why is it called "the Needle"?
4.	Underline words in the texts that mean the following:
	a. far away
	b. without any plants
	c. a source of water
	d. clever and original
	e. become or make something narrower at one end
	f. have enough space for
5.	Which building would you be interested in visiting? Why?

The Boston Red Sox

Baseball, often called "America's Pastime," is considered by many to be the most popular sport in the U.S. One of the oldest and most famous baseball teams in the world is the Boston Red Sox. The club was founded in 1901, as one of eight teams in the American League. They were a dominant team in the new league—winning their first World Series in 1903. They won four more championships by 1918. Since 1912, the Red Sox's home ballpark has been Fenway Park.

The Sale Of The Bambino

While the first seventeen years in Red Sox history were successful, after the 1918 win, they went into one of the longest championship droughts in baseball history. In 1919, Red Sox owner Frazee sold famous slugger Babe Ruth, who had played the previous six seasons for the Red Sox, to the rival New York Yankees. Even though Ruth had just broken the single-season home run record, hitting 29 in 1919, Frazee sold him. Legend has it that Frazee did so in order to finance a Broadway play. Many people said that they would lose for 100 years because they had sold Babe Ruth, who was also known as the Bambino.

Evidence Of The Myth

Over the years, the Red Sox had many excellent players, but nonetheless, they were never able to win the World Series. They came closest in 1986, when they lost the final game in extra innings because a slow ground ball rolled through the first baseman's legs. This infamous moment in baseball history fed the myth that the Red Sox were destined to lose for the rest of their career.

Ending The Losing Streak

Finally, the losing streak ended in 2004, when the team won their sixth World Series Championship. Since 2003, the Red Sox have competed in five American League Champion Series, have won two World Series in 2007 and 2013, and have emerged as arguably one of the most successful Major League Baseball teams of the last two decades.

- 1. What is the name of the Red Sox home stadium?
- 2. How did the Red Sox do in the early years?
- 3. What started the myth about the Red Sox?
- 4. How did they lose the 1986 World Series Championship?

5. When did the losing streak finally end?

A bat and ball sport played between two teams of nine players each. The objective of the game is to score runs by hitting a ball with a bat and touching the four bases arranged at the corners of a ninety-foot square or diamond-shaped field. Teams take turns batting and fielding. The fielding team tries to stop three hitters of the batting team from touching the base. The players on the batting team take turns hitting the ball that the pitcher of the fielding team throws. It has become the national sport of the United States.

A team sport in which two teams of five players try to score points by throwing a ball through a hoop

A team sport in which two teams of five players try to score points by throwing a ball through a hoop mounted on a backboard. The team with the most points at the end of the game wins. The ball can be advanced on the court by bouncing it while running or passing it to a teammate. Players are not allowed to take steps carrying the ball in their hands. Rule violations are called "fouls."

It is a game that can be played by two or four players. The players hit a lightweight, hollow ball back and forth using rackets as they stand at the two ends of a hard table divided by a net. Players have to hit the ball to return it to their opponent after only one bounce. The pace of the game is very quick and players need to react accordingly.

It is claimed to be the world's most popular martial art. A loose translation of its name could be "the art of the foot and fist" or "the art of kicking and punching." It combines combat techniques, self-defense, exercise, as well as philosophy.

It originated in Britain in the late 19th century. It is usually played between two players (singles) or two teams of two players each (doubles). Each player uses a racket to strike a hollow rubber ball covered with felt over a net and into the opponent's side of the court. The surface of the court is usually clay, asphalt, or grass.

How to Write a Funny Joke

In order to learn how to write a joke that will make people laugh, you first need to consider what makes a joke funny. One common type of joke is one that shows the irony of a situation. This is when the listener's assumptions about the world are the opposite of the reality in the joke. In addition, you will need to consider your audience. You will get more laughs over different types of jokes with your friends at school than you will with your grandparents.

The Setup: Setting up your joke is important. The setup should tell the audience who the characters are. Also, if it's relevant, it should tell us where and when the joke is happening. Next, the joke should go on to explain the details of the situation. Be careful not to make your joke too long or too confusing. Keep it simple and stick to the point. Also, effective jokes have easy ways to differentiate the characters, like the first man and the second man, or the father mouse and the young mouse.

The Punch Line: The first rule in writing a good joke is that every joke needs a punch line and, more importantly, a punch word to make the audience laugh. The punch line turns the idea of the joke. Suddenly, the audience can see that their assumptions are different than the reality of the situation in the joke. In a well-written joke, the punch line is the last line of the joke, and the punch word is the last word of the punch line. This is important because otherwise people don't know when to laugh. They will start to laugh, but then stop because they will think that the joke is not over yet.

Looking at a Joke: Now let's look at the joke about the parrot that attends a lecture. It's on the first page of Unit 9 of your Student Book. The joke starts:

A student with a parrot on his shoulder leaves a lecture theater. Another student follows him...

This gives us a clear picture of who the characters are (a student, a parrot, and another student), where the characters are (outside a lecture theater), and when it is taking place (after the lecture).

He stops him and says, "I'm sorry to bother you, but I have to say, I was astonished by your parrot's remarkable reaction to the lecture on ancient history. He seemed frightened at the frightening parts, sad at the depressing parts, fascinated at the interesting parts, and amused at the funny parts. I could have sworn I even heard it laugh. I have to say, I was amazed. Don't you find it surprising?" "Yes," he replies, "I was very surprised..."

This is the body of the joke. It explains what has happened. (The parrot was listening to the lecture and seemed to understand it.) It also gives us a clear picture of the other student's assumption (which is likely shared by the audience) that parrots shouldn't be able to understand lectures. The student's question "Don't you find it surprising?" indicates that he assumes the student with the parrot will agree with him, and when he says "I was very surprised" it seems to be confirmed.

The joke finishes:

He hated the class!

"He hated the class!" is the punch line, and "class" is the punch word. By mention of the word "class" the audience knows that the parrot can attend class, and the student thinks it's normal. This juxtaposes the assumption of the listener with the reality of the situation, which in turn, makes the audience laugh!

- 1. ____ irony
- 2. ___ assumption
- 3. ___ audience
- _ stick to the point
- indicate
- juxtapose

I won't have to write anything, right?
I am the ninth letter of the alphabet.
What happened to all the books?

Four high school boys were late for their morning classes. After lunch they reported to the teacher that they had had a flat tire on the way to school.

Much to their relief, the teacher smiled and said: "Well, you missed the test, so sit down and take out a piece of paper." He waited for them to sit down.

Then he said: "First Question:

A class of fifth graders was riding along in a school bus, happy to be on an educational trip. The teacher told them that they would write about what they saw for their homework. Most of them were looking out the windows and pointing to different things. All of a sudden, the teacher noticed that a boy was sitting on the floor, between the seats, with his hands over his eyes. "Why are you sitting like that? Are you OK?"

"Well," said the boy, "if I don't see anything,

Read the account of a real incident that caused a lot of laughter and answer the questions.

My father was sitting at his desk, talking to a patient. He was a dedicated medical doctor and used to get very absorbed in his work. This often prevented him from noticing other mundane things around him, such as untidiness, worn out hinges, nails that were about to come off the wall, etc.

Anyway, he started looking for some medication that he had left on his desk. He was obviously not happy when he realized that someone must have gone in to tidy up in his absence, against his express wishes not to touch anything on his desk. Feeling quite annoyed he banged his hand on the desk, upon which the patient was startled and jumped up as a large painting that was on the wall over my father's chair and desk, came down, was ripped when it landed on his head, and ended up resting on his shoulders like a huge rectangular collar. Fortunately, he was not hurt. It was a very old oil painting and the canvas must have been quite fragile.

The patient, who was initially horrified, stood there trying to suppress his laughter with my father glaring at him, livid with anger, until he stole a look in the mirror diagonally opposite his desk and saw himself collared by the painting, with his head sticking out. He started laughing so hard, they couldn't get the painting off him. And as this kind of laughter happens to be quite infectious everyone who was there witnessing the scene couldn't stop laughing either. He later said that the sight was so surreal, he could not help himself. He never had another painting above his desk after that, but would chuckle for months when he entered his office and saw the mark on the wall. He grudgingly let someone paint the wall nearly a year later.

Read the article and answer the questions.

Where in the world?

Many of the fruits and vegetables we see on our supermarket shelves today are cultivated in most continents on the planet. But this wasn't always the case. Have you ever stopped to think where these foods were first grown?

Date

Dates have been a dominant part of people's diets in the Middle East for thousands of years. The date palm, the tree on which the fruit grows, is probably the most ancient cultivated tree in the world and may have originated in the region we now know as Iraq. Today, dates are widely cultivated across Northern Africa, the Middle East, and South Asia. The fruit isn't only delicious, it's also very nutritious: it contains protein and vitamins, and is high in potassium and fiber. Saudi Arabia is now one of the world's biggest producers of dates.

Tomato

People often associate them with Mediterranean cuisine, but tomatoes are native to Mexico and Central America. The Aztecs grew them back in the eighth century. In the sixteenth century, Spanish explorers introduced tomatoes to Spain, and the tomato's popularity spread quickly throughout Europe. The French, Germans, and Italians absolutely loved them. But the British thought they were poisonous at first. In the nineteenth century, a British diplomat introduced tomatoes to the Middle East, and now Egypt is among the world's top tomato producers.

Orange

The fruit we know for its high Vitamin C content is actually a hybrid, meaning it was created by combining the genes of two fruits: the pomelo and the mandarin. Oranges are grouped into two basic types according to their taste: the sweet orange and the bitter orange. When most of us talk about oranges, we actually mean the sweet orange, which is the fruit we eat and squeeze to make fruit juice. Bitter oranges are used in Chinese medicine and to make marmalade. Oranges originated in Southeast Asia, in a region including the northeastern part of India, southern China, and northern Myanmar. Today, Brazil is the leading producer of oranges in the world.

Avocado

Long before the avocado became a trendy item on restaurant menus, it was cultivated by the Aztecs. The avocado is an oily fruit, rich in vitamins A, B, and C. The fruit does not get ripe on the tree. People need to pick it from the tree before it develops its flavor and full maturity. Sailors used to call avocados "seaman's butter," because the fruit lasts for a long time and it was good for sea voyages. A significant number of resources are needed to cultivate the fruit, since an avocado tree takes three to five years to start bearing fruit. Today, Mexico is the largest producer and exporter of avocados in the world.

Unit 10

10 You Are What You Eat

Read the list of ingredients for the pasta salad. Are there any ingredients that you don't like? What would you replace them with? Would you add anything?

Pasta salad

500 grams bow-shaped pasta

1 yellow, 1 red, and 1 green pepper, diced
1 cup parsley, finely chopped
1/2 cup spring onion, finely chopped
1 cup mayonnaise or yogurt dressing
300-400 grams tinned tuna fillet
Salt

Pepper

Soy sauce and Tabasco sauce (optional)

Number the instructions in the right order.

	Put the pasta in a large bowl and mix in the tuna and the vegetables. Add the mayonnaise and stir.
	Add a dash of Tabasco sauce.
1	Boil the pasta in a large pan of water with $\frac{1}{2}$ a tablespoon of salt and 1-2 tablespoons of olive oil for about 12-15 minutes.
	Serve cold with slices of tomato and cucumber.
	Rinse and let it cool in a colander.
	Cover the bowl with cling wrap or foil and leave it in the refrigerator for about two hours.
	Chop parsley and spring onions finely, dice the peppers, and put them in a bowl.
	Add salt, pepper, and a dash of soy sauce.
	Take the tuna out of the tin and mash it with a fork. Then mix it in with the chopped vegetables.

- Answer the questions.
 - 1. Do you always have a salad with your meal? What kind of salad?
 - 2. Do you always have dessert? What kind of dessert do you prefer?
 - 3. Which vegetables are more popular in your country? Why?
 - 4. Which meat dishes are more popular? Why?
 - 5. Is yogurt a staple in people's diets? Why? Why not?

Mythical Animals

There are many animals that are mythical, or not real. It is agreed that most mythical animals, such as a dragon or a unicorn, truly are myth. However, with others, such as Bigfoot, the Chupacabra, and the Loch Ness Monster, there is more of a debate. Read on, and then you can decide for yourself if you think they are real or myth.

Bigfoot

There have been numerous sightings of a large, hairy creature known as Bigfoot. It is believed that this creature roams the forests of North America and looks like an enormous ape that walks on two feet. It is said that the same or similar creatures are found around the world under different regional names, most prominently the Yeti of the Himalayas. Witnesses have described Bigfoot as having large eyes and a large, low-set forehead. It is also reported to have a strong, unpleasant smell and enormous footprints. Bigfoot is believed to be omnivorous and mainly nocturnal. The scientific community considers Bigfoot to be a combination of folklore, misidentification, and hoaxes, rather than a real creature.

The Chupacabra

The legendary Chupacabra has puzzled zoologists for over 50 years. Stories of a strange beast drinking the blood of livestock were first reported in Puerto Rico in the 1950s. Since then, other sightings have been reported in Brazil, Chile, Mexico, and the U.S. Most eye-witnesses describe a beast that stands over one meter tall, which hops like a kangaroo on its hind legs. It is said to have leathery skin with long, sharp spines along its back. Witnesses also say that when alarmed, its red eyes glow and it gives off an unpleasant odor. Skeptics claim the Chupacabra is little more than a hoax or a mistaken identity, but others believe it actually exists.

The Loch Ness Monster

Thousands of people have reported seeing the Loch Ness Monster. This creature is said to live in the depths of the Scottish lake, Loch Ness, and supposedly resembles a dinosaur. The Loch Ness Monster first entered the public eye in 1933, when a newspaper published a full-page story about a couple who had been visiting Loch Ness and had seen a prehistoric animal with another animal in its mouth. Yet evidence of its existence is anecdotal, with minimal and much-disputed photographic material and sonar readings. The scientific community regards the Loch Ness Monster as a modern day myth, and explains sightings as a mix of pranks and wishful thinking.

- 1. _____ Many people think dragons are real.
- 2. _____ Bigfoot has mostly been seen in North America.
- 3. _____ Bigfoot looks similar to a goat.
- 4. _____ The Chupacabra attacks farm animals.
- 5. _____ The Loch Ness Monster is believed to live in a lake.
- 6. _____ Scientists think that the Loch Ness Monster is probably real.

The Great White: The World's Most Dangerous Fish

The great white shark is one of the oldest living species on Earth—it existed 350 million years ago. It is the largest and the most dangerous predatory fish, and it is the most feared by humans. Great white sharks can grow up to 20 feet (6 meters) long and weigh up to 4,400 pounds (2,000 kilograms). They have about 3,000 teeth arranged in several rows. When the front teeth break or fall out, these teeth are replaced by others from the next row. A shark's hearing is very sensitive, and they can hear their prey from many miles away. They can also detect one part per million of blood in seawater.

Kohlberg's Theory of Moral Reasoning

A moral dilemma is a big problem or quandary that will have both positive and negative outcomes no matter what decision is made. Kohlberg's Theory of Moral Reasoning describes the development that people go through when making moral decisions. It has six sequential stages, meaning that they go in order, and that no stage is ever skipped. Kohlberg's theory is based on his research, which consisted of presenting the following Heinz Dilemma to his subjects and having them make a decision about what they would do:

A woman was near death from a special kind of cancer. There was one drug that the doctors thought might save her. It was a form of radium that a druggist in the same town had recently discovered. The drug was expensive to make, but the druggist was charging ten times what the drug cost him to produce. He paid $200 for the radium and charged $2,000 for a small dose of the drug. The sick woman's husband, Heinz, went to everyone he knew to borrow the money, but he could only get together about $1,000, which was half of what it cost. He told the druggist that his wife was dying and asked him to sell it cheaper or let him pay later. But the druggist said, "No, I discovered the drug and I'm going to make money from it." So Heinz got desperate and broke into the man's store to steal the drug for his wife. Should Heinz have broken into the laboratory to steal the drug for his wife? Why or why not?

In order to determine which stage of moral reasoning each person was in, Kohlberg would focus on how they supported the decision they made, rather than the decision itself. The stages are as follows:

Stage 1: Obedience In this stage, the focus is on avoiding punishment. The rules for right and wrong are determined by parents and teachers. Example answer: He should not steal the medicine, because he will go to jail.

Stage 2: Self-Interest Subjects concentrate on their own needs and occasionally the needs of others. Fairness is present, but decisions are made based upon their own desires. Example answer: Heinz should steal the medicine, because he will be happier if he saves his wife, even if he has to go to jail.

Stage 3: Conformity People in this stage will emphasize being nice or good to gain approval from others. Example answer: Heinz should steal the medicine because he wants to be a good husband.

Stage 4: Social Systems People in this stage define right and wrong by doing one's duty to society. They are concerned with showing respect for authority and maintaining social order for its own sake. Example answer: Heinz should steal the drug for his wife but also be punished for the crime. He should also pay the druggist what he is owed.

Stage 5: Human rights In this stage, subjects are concerned with human rights. They try to define moral values apart from the authority of the group. Example answer: Heinz should steal the medicine because everyone has a right to choose life, regardless of the law.

Stage 6: Universal Human Ethics In the final stage of moral development, subjects follow self-chosen ethical principles that are valid and applied universally. Example answer: Heinz should steal the medicine, because saving a human life is a more important value than the property rights of another person.

Read Carl's dilemma and answer the questions.

Carl was studying as his younger brother Sid played nearby. He had promised to keep an eye on his brother until their parents came back.

Suddenly, the phone rang; it was Mitch, Carl's best friend. Mitch wanted to come over and show Carl a new gadget that he had just bought. Carl looked at the time. He would have to get his brother ready for bed. This was all his idea. He had suggested that they stop using a babysitter as he could look after Sid. As expected, their father suggested that Carl get an additional allowance for his help.

Their parents were not due back for at least an hour. He needed about 20 minutes to feed Sid and then put him to bed, so that would probably leave another half hour if he didn't read a story to him. But without a story, Sid would probably refuse to go to sleep. He could, of course, give him that model car that he liked so much. It had small parts and it wasn't supposed to be safe, but Sid was very careful with things like that. A prized model car for a story...Was it a good deal? But he did want to see Mitch's new remote control for his game console. He was interested in using his extra allowance to buy one himself.

He decided to give the car to Sid. By the time he made up his mind, Mitch had arrived. Carl realized that he hadn't fed his brother. He asked Mitch to wait, went into the kitchen and warmed up some milk. He put some cookies on a plate and gave them to Sid. Sid took one sip of milk, dropped the cup on the carpet, and started crying. The milk was too hot. Mitch suggested they give Sid some ice cream to soothe him. So Sid had ice cream for dinner, and the model car. All was well.

When their parents returned, they found Mitch and Carl playing. They knew Mitch and were happy to see that Carl had company. They asked him if he'd fed Sid and put him to sleep.

Carl said he had. All of a sudden, they heard a choking sound from Sid's room and ran upstairs. Sid was sitting on his bed hanging onto the model car, choking on a part he had pulled off.

"Sid," said the mother. "It's all right, hang on. Why did you take Carl's car? I've told you not to."

- 1. What did the mother assume?
- 2. What was Carl's dilemma at that point?
- 3. Did Carl betray his parents' confidence in him? Why? Why not?
- 4. Did he betray his younger brother? Why? Why not?
- B. Read the story again and make notes on each event and its effect(s).

	The technology is ready now, but are we ready for it?
	Technology has completely changed the way we live and work and it will continue to do so in the future. According to a market forecast, five years from now, e-Learning will have reached (1. reach) a volume of nearly 6 billion dollars in the highest buying markets. This amount will be spent on packaged content, development services, learning platforms, tool hosting services, authoring software, and platform installation. Higher education
	Moreover, rapid developments in robotics and A.I. (Artificial Intelligence) will mean that soon we will all be able to study or work remotely from the comforts of our home: We will send our robot to school or the office instead. By 2025, it is quite possible that some households will own a robot to carry out 'porter' style tasks, such as delivering and carrying packages. By 2030, experts believe that robotics (5. develop) so significantly that smart robots will be capable of performing autonomously, and make 'common-sense' decisions. By 2050, some scientists believe that smart robots (6. reached) such a high level of intelligence that they will be

Capitalization

Rules for using capital letters are often different in English from the rules for using them in your own language, so it's important to check your written work for mistakes after you finish. Review the rules below and then complete the exercises.

- 1. Always use capitals at the beginning of sentences and quotations.
- 2. Use capitals for the names of cities, countries, rivers, lakes, mountains, universities, etc.
- 3. Use capitals for the days of the week and months of the year, but don't use them for the seasons.
- 4. Most jobs don't need capitals.
- 5. Use capitals for every word in titles, except for articles, conjunctions, and prepositions, unless they are the first word.
- 6. Use capitals for the names of organizations, but not for their products.
- 7. Use capitals for nationalities, languages, and religions.
- 8. Use capitals for family words when they appear alone or followed by a name, but don't use them when the word has a possessive pronoun or an article before it.
- 9. Use capitals for the names of holidays and historical events.
- 10. Don't use capitals for school subjects unless they are the name of a language.

Error Correction: Unnecessary Words

When checking your work, you need to think carefully not only about whether or not words are missing, but also if some words are unnecessary, either grammatically or because they are repeating something you've already said. Look at the guide below to help you.

1.	the: The is commonly included by accident when you are translating from your own language.
	Remember, for example, that English doesn't use the before nouns when talking about things in general, or when talking about abstract nouns.

I don't think students should be given more homework. Unemployment is one of the biggest problems in the developed world.

2. Prepositions: Sometimes a word in your native language needs a preposition before or after it, but in English it may be unnecessary. Think carefully—are you writing in English or simply translating?

I went home at six o'clock. (NOT: I went to home at six o'clock.)

3. and: Although it is not grammatically incorrect, we do not usually include and in lists until before the final item.

I went shopping and bought a suit, three shirts, a pair of shoes, and a tie.

- 4. Words that have the same meaning: Be careful not to repeat yourself by using words that have the same meaning. For example, something can be big or large, but saying A big, large tiger sounds very strange, because it repeats the same concept.
- 5. Contractions: Don't repeat words that are already present in contractions.

Jack's been to Kenya. (NOT: Jack's has been to Kenya.)

6. Personal pronouns: Don't use personal pronouns if you've already used a name in the same clause.

Lindsay lives in Mexico. (NOT: Lindsay she lives in Mexico.)

A.	Read the sentences and write the number(s)	of the	rule(s)	each	one illustrates.	Correct the	mistake(s) ir each sentence.

1.	Donna Keelev	v she likes reading	the books and the	poetry.

- 2. Can you ask to the waiter for the check?
- 3. Although he is very clever intelligent, Ali failed to his math test.
- 4. I normally get to the work at eight in the morning and go for the lunch at twelve.
- 5. Could you lend to me five dollars, please?
- 6. I'm very really interested in the ancient history.
- 7. Even though they threatened to him, he refused not to tell them the secret.
- 8. The violence is never an answer to the problems.
- 9. My brother he lives in Washington, D.C.
- •10. We're are looking forward to seeing you the next week.

Punctuation 1

Although your language may use the same punctuation symbols as English, it is important to realize that English may have different rules for using them. Punctuation in English can affect meaning, and poorly punctuated writing is very difficult for the reader to understand.

1. Periods: Use a period after statements and commands.

I've decided to change jobs.

Make me a cup of coffee, please.

2. Question marks: Use a question mark after, but never before, questions. Don't use one after reported questions, use a period instead.

"Have you got any change?"

"What time is it?" she asked.

She asked me what time it was.

3. Exclamation points: Use after surprising pieces of information and exclamatory phrases or sentences.

I got a promotion!

Oh, stop it!

No way!

4. Quotation marks: Use quotation marks at the beginning and the end of direct speech. Other punctuation usually goes before the end of the quotation marks. Quotation marks are also often used to show the title of articles, poems, stories, etc.

Mark said, "I really don't think you want to do that."

Have you ever read "The Road Not Taken" by Robert Frost?

5. Apostrophes: Use apostrophes in contractions and in the formation of possessives.

Please don't do that. Have you seen Tom's new car? He's so smart it's unbelievable.

Mike's apartment is very spacious.

- A. Look at the sentences below and include the correct punctuation marks (commas and capital letters are already given).
 - 1. Well arrive at about half past seven
 - 2. Its raining What are we going to do
 - 3. He asked me what time the banks closed I said I didnt know
 - 4. Dont touch that iron Youll burn yourself

Punctuation 2

The comma has various uses in English, often helping to divide various pieces of information that appear in the same sentence.

Use commas:

· to separate items in a list

We went to Spain, France, Italy, and Greece on vacation.

after yes and no in answers

Yes, I did. No, I haven't seen him recently.

• before conjunctions (e.g., and, but, so) that separate two clauses

He didn't like living in Washington, but he didn't want to leave his job.

to separate names of people in direct address

How very nice to see you again, Mr. Smith.

• after transitional expressions (e.g., for example, however, furthermore)

Successful products today are truly international. For example, Microsoft programs are recognized all over the world.

· to separate adjectives that modify the noun separately

Gerry was tall, athletic, and very clever.

· to separate quotation marks for direct speech from the rest of the sentence

"I'm bored," Tim said. "When are we going to do something different?"

to separate clauses

As soon as I get to the office, I'll send you the report.

• to separate non-defining clauses from the rest of the sentence

Tony Wakefield, who came to Mexico in 2009, is a director.

to separate interjections

I am, by the way, also going to Chicago.

Don't use commas:

→ when the conjunction does not separate two independent clauses

I want to get married and have children.

→ for names when it is not direct address

I spoke to Dr. Franklin and he said that it was no problem.

→ for defining relative clauses

That's the man who stole my car!

- A. Insert commas in the appropriate places in the sentences below.
 - 1. What do you think John?
 - 2. If I had a million dollars I'd buy a house on the coast.
 - 3. It was very hot in the sun so we moved our chairs into the shade.
 - 4. "I really don't think that that's fair" he said "You hardly know me."
 - 5. Mr. Wassermann who was born in Germany has taught at the school for the last twenty years.
 - 6. For breakfast this morning I had yogurt peaches toast and coffee.
 - 7 Tve had these books for over a year. However I only started reading them last month.
 - 8. Yes I know what you mean but I really don't agree!
- آليون علي المجالة "Mhen you get to the hotel can you give me a call?"

Requests, Offers, Refusals, and Saying Thank You

Asking people to do things and offering to do things for other people are things we do regularly in spoken English. Nonetheless, choosing the right words can be difficult because we don't want to offend the other person. Study the chart below for appropriate expressions.

Requests	I wonder if you'd mind
	Could you possibly?
	Would you mind if I (past simple)?
	Would you mind verb + -ing?
	Could you?
	Can you?
Offers	l'II
	Would you like me to?
Refusals	Thank you, but there's no need.
	Sorry, but I'm not really interested.
	Sorry, but that won't be possible.
	Sorry, but I'd really rather not.
	No, thank you.
Saying thank you	Thank you so much.
	Thank you very much.
	Thanks.
	That was very thoughtful of you.

Sounding Natural

When you speak in English, it's important to try to sound as natural as possible. Ways of making your English sound natural include fillers, which are words and phrases that don't really mean anything, but which speakers often use to open a sentence or give them a little extra time to think. Other ways of sounding natural are to take turns in a conversation instead of dominating it, and to make sounds which show that you're interested in what the other person is saying.

Fillers	Uhmm Well Right You know I mean OK
Take turns	What do you think? What about you? And you? Do you agree or?
Showing signs of interest	Really? Oh, yes. Uh-huh. Is that right?

PowerPoint and Poster Presentations

When preparing a presentation, it is important to bear in mind the audience and the time available for the presentation. Most people tend to try and pack too much information into a short time. However, the key is to be selective, and present things that the audience is going to be interested in or intrigued by.

Preparation	 Brainstorm ideas on the subject and make notes or audio record. Research and collect information from different sources. Select the items of information that you would like to present and make notes about them, using your own words.
PowerPoint presentation	 Use sheets of paper to make rough sketches of how you want to present your subject. Use one sheet for each PowerPoint slide. Limit bullet points to about 4 or 5 items. Include photos or drawings. Use smaller cards for your personal notes with more information about what you plan to say to your audience. When you use your computer, you can transfer your notes to the space provided on each PowerPoint slide, which only you can see (not the audience). Use your sheets to practice/rehearse your presentation. If you are working in groups, share the sections of the presentation and the number of slides out equally, so that each member of the group will present/speak for approximately the same amount of time.
Poster Presentation	 Cut out different-sized pieces of paper for your text or bullet points. Cut out photos from publications or print them out. Try out different layouts on a large sheet of paper or cardboard to decide how you are going to compose your poster, what colors you are going to use, font size or handwriting, shapes, etc. Stick things in place temporarily, using tape that can be removed easily without damaging the paper or cardboard. Hold up your poster or put it up on the wall/board to check that it is not too crowded and that texts and photos are clearly visible. Make any changes you think are necessary before finally sticking things into place. If you are working in groups, share out sections of your presentation equally.

A. Work with a partner. Choose a topic, e.g. a sport like the ones you have read about or are familiar with, an activity, a place, or an object/device. Choose no more than 5 points to present with one or two photos/visuals. Present the topic to your partner. Comment on and evaluate each other's presentation.
